PITTSBURGH RIVERS APPROACH FLOOD STAGE

Rivers At High Stage As Result Of Steady Rains

Streams At Pittsburgh Are Near Flood Stage This Morning

RISE RAPIDLY IN LAST FEW HOURS

Expect Crest To Be Reached At Pittsburgh At About 23 Feet

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Heavy rains and melting snow today sent rivers in the Pittsburgh district to a crest of two feet from flood stage.

Similar rises were reported in other sections of the vital western Pennsylvania watershed.

In Pittsburgh, at 11 o'clock this morning, the waters at the junction of the Monongahela and Allegheny had reached a stage of 22.4 feet. W. S. Brotzman, government forecaster, said they would touch the 23 foot stage of slightly more then recede late this afternoon, barring any heavy rainfall. The flood stage is 25 feet.

Pittsburghers Jittery

Pittsburghers, the disastrous St. Patrick's day flood spectacle not yet dulled in their minds, grew jittery over the sight of several automobiles submerged in their parking places on river bank wharves.

After reaching its crest, the river stage will fall rapidly, Brotzman promised. No rain or snow was fore-

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sandler and daughter, of Moody avenue, are mourning the loss of a valuable chow dog, which has been a family pet for several years, and which died at the hands of a poisoner Wednesday. They feel that other residents of their community should be warned that a dog poisoner exists in that vicinity and should take precaution to keeping their dogs confined.

Mother Nature has taken care of the forest fire danger during the hunting season in handy fashion this year, and vegetation should be pretty thoroughly soaked by now, with a tremendous excess of precipitation having been recorded in the past six weeks.

Local streams are swollen today as a result of the rain and snow of the past two days. Over two and a quarter inches of precipitation had fallen here in the 48-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning. The Shenango river rose four feet as a result, while the Neshannock is also up several feet.

HUNTING SEASON FOR SMALL GAME TO OPEN FRIDAY

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 5.—Half a million Pennsylvania nimrods cleaned guns and shined equipment today preparatory to taking the field tomorrow when the small game season gets under way.

At 9 a. m. Friday, not sunrise as in previous years, rabbits, squirrels, wild turkeys, male rigneck pheasants, quail, blackbirds, grouse, raccoons, minks, opposums and skunks will become legitimate quarry for the state's hunters.

For Three Weeks

Because of an apparently diminished game crop this year, the season will last only three weeks, terminating Thanksgiving Day. Last year the season ran from November 1 to November 30.

Seth Gordon, executive secretary of the game commission, said the game shortage existed only in some counties and that in others there were "highly favorable" conditions. Gordon explained the "cut" season, saying:

"We believe that many of the accidents of which there is usually an abundance the first day are caused by over-anxious hunters attempting to get into action before there is sufficient light to afford a good view of the area being hunted."

Also, Gordon said, the late start will give the farmer a better chance than he previously had to get his early morning work done and school children an opportunity to get to their buildings before the hunting fusiliade begins.

President Confronts Greatest Obligation Of His Entire Career

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt prepared to return to Washington today to meet the greatest obligation of his career—fulfillment of the vote of confidence imposed upon him by an overwhelming majority of the American electorate.

Before leaving Hyde Park on a late train, the president was entertaining Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, and several other high Catholic churchmen at lunch.

No Reprisals.

The president was returning to the national capital with a definite policy of no reprisals against any of the monied interests that opposed him in the campaign just concluded.

As he stated publicly in an acknowledgment of the thousands of telegrams of congratulation:

"We are going forward together."

Important matters of state will confront the president upon his return to the White House.

A number of important government posts must be filled, among them probably two cabinet portfolios. James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, who directed the president's overwhelming victory at the polls, is said to be anxious to permanently quit the job of postmaster general from which he is now on leave. Also it was anticipated a permanent selection would be made as soon as congress convenes for the secretary of war.

Decide Congress Program.

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—You and I have spent hours of a November night at radios, telephones and tickers and are now cheering the victor or planning to carry on the fight, depending upon whether we were on the winning or the losing side. I have followed the returns too often, sometimes to victory, sometimes to defeat, to feel unduly elated or hopelessly dejected by the story they tell.

While the winners rejoice and the losers salve their wounds, both sides can take pride in the circumstance that we still express our most extreme partizanship with ballots. We cannot fail to realize that today in many countries a more violent method prevails. The campaign and the election are not forgotten, but they are behind us. The future of the American system of living and governing is still the worthy objective to which millions will continue to give their best thought and effort.

Becker Facing Death In Chair

Brookville Jury Finds Him Guilty Of Slaying Katherine Bracken

ATTORNEYS MAY APPEAL VERDICT

(International News Service)

BROOKVILLE, Pa., Nov. 5.—Attorneys for John Becker today were considering whether or not to appeal the verdict which convicted the 37-year-old night watchman of first degree murder and fixed the penalty at death in the electric chair for the brutal slaying of Miss Katherine Bracken, 42, a railroad signal tower operator.

"I did not do it," Becker exclaimed in court when Jury Foreman L. G. Pearsall read the findings of himself and his eleven colleagues.

Standing silently, with his left hand in his trouser pocket, Becker then heard each juryman agree to his guilt as Judge Jesse C. Long polled the jury.

Deliberate Three Hours

The verdict was reached after three hours of deliberation.

No date for sentencing was immediately set.

Meanwhile, C. O. Morris, of Kittanning, and John W. Conrad, of Brookville, the defense attorneys, were considering their next step in their plans to save their client.

HEAVY FALL OF SNOW RECORDED

Over Eight Inches Of Snow Falls In Few Hours But Melts Quickly

Over eight inches of snow fell here Wednesday afternoon, and only the fact that the earth has not yet cooled off, and that the temperature did not continue dropping, prevented the snow from remaining on the ground.

Statistics show that a tenth of an inch of rain is equivalent to one inch of snow and about four-fifths of the precipitation was over an inch, so it is figured that more than eight inches of snow fell. There was still a little of it on the ground this morning, but most of the snow melted almost as fast as it fell.

It is interesting to note that the total precipitation for November has already been exceeded in a five-day period. November's normal precipitation is a little less than two and a half inches, and the total so far is 2.93 inches. There will be little danger of hunters starting any forest fires during the first few days of the hunting season at least.

Desperate Effort To Save Madrid

International News Service

MADRID, Nov. 5.—Announcing reorganization of the cabinet in a last desperate effort to stave off fall of Madrid, the leftist government of Spain today issued the following proclamation calling for united and "heroic" measures against the Rebel armies advancing on the capital:

"The government wants to tell you the whole truth and prepare you for the decisive and heroic gesture all Spain must make.

"The enemy is at the gates of Madrid, ready to assail the capital to assuage its hatred there.

"We are certain Madrid will fulfill its duty.

"The government possesses all necessary authority to exact performance of their duty from one and all.

Can Crush Offensive

"Madrid should not have to rely upon being defended merely on the fronts bordering it. It is the duty of every region in Spain to defend the capital. It is the duty of every region to send us arms which are idle elsewhere and attack the enemy at all points in obedience to orders of the government.

"If Madrid wills and the whole of Spain so wills, the enemy offensive can be crushed.

"Madrid is now the fighting front.

Battle Looming For House Leadership

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—A battle for leadership of the Democratic house in the 75th Congress sprang into the open today hard on the heels of the tremendous election sweep which carried 335 party members into office.

Representative Sam Rayburn in Texas, chairman of the Democratic speakers bureau in the campaign, announced today he will seek the post of leader, while friends of Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York, heir-apparent, began to seek pledges from newly-elected members.

Another candidate, Rep. John Rankin (D) of Mississippi, will enter the fight as an extreme progressive, while New Dealers in the south Atlantic states planned to put Rep. Clifton Woodrum of Virginia, in the race.

Factional Warfare?

The possibility that the huge Democratic membership of the house may engage in factional warfare with Republican opposition almost stilled by the voters, may cause the Roosevelt administration to take a hand in the battle.

Making a net gain of 14 seats in the house, the Democratic membership today stood: Democrats, 335; Republicans, 88; Farmer-Labor, 5; Progressives, 7.

The Democrats topped their nation-wide sweeps of four and two years ago, passing their previous membership of 321. Republicans actually suffered a loss of 16, because they failed to win two Republican vacancies. The third party strength was increased when the Minnesota Farmer-Laborites raised their number from three to five. The seven Wisconsin Progressives were re-elected.

Speaker William B. Bankhead of the house, is believed to be certain of re-election to the post when the new congress convenes on January 5. Bankhead, father of the actress Tallulah Bankhead, took litle part in the campaign. He sought to conserve his strength because of a heart attack suffered two years ago.

They met at the court house with Judge Chambers at noon today and started the count. The sealed return sheets from all the different precincts of Lawrence county must be opened, the names, together with the vote cast for each, are read off by one of the return judges, and taken down by the others.

In the cases of the congressional and state senate vote, return judges will be appointed to take it to Beaver county after the totals are secured by the local return judges. The vote for Lawrence, Butler and Beaver counties will be added at Beaver and also the vote for state senate in the Beaver-Lawrence district.

Rebel Troops Advancing On Center Of City

Report 50,000 Rebel Troops Are Now In Suburbs Of Madrid

DESPERATE BATTLE NOW IN PROGRESS

Casualties On Both Sides Are Reported High In Day's Conflict

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Nov. 5.—With fall of the capital seemingly only a matter of hours, rebel airplanes streaked over Madrid in another daylight air raid today, adding panic to the damage and casualties already inflicted by General Francisco Franco's rapidly advancing armies.

The raid occurred at 9:30 a. m., when streets were crowded with civilians and hastily-recruited reservists hastening to the suburbs in a last desperate attempt to forestall the city's capitulation.

Meet Little Resistance.

The rebel bombers met with little resistance as Franco's Moors and Foreign Legionnaires had overnight captured the suburban airport of Getafe, previously one of the leading loyalist defense strongholds. Fourteen government planes assigned Getafe were hastily evacuated with the insurgent approach.

At the time of the raid, a fierce battle still was raging on the hill of the Angels, a few miles from the center of the capital, where loyalists in strongly fortified positions were heavily bombarded.

Casualties on both sides were reported high, with the insurgents

Fingerprints Being Checked In Murder Case

Fingerprints On Whiskey Bottle In New York City May Solve Strangulation Murder

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Fingerprints on a whiskey bottle and glasses today were being checked in the hope they would reveal the strangle-slayers of R. Walton Ford, 35, interior decorator and former actor, found beaten and bound to his bed in a fashionable mid-town hotel.

The possible prints seemed the most promising way of identifying two strangers known to have been with Ford in his apartment just before the murder. They left some hours before the death was discovered.

Ford, member of an aristocratic Roanoke, Va., family had come to New York 15 years ago and had appeared in several Broadway plays. On the walls of his bedroom were numerous gold-framed miniatures of his ancestors—dignified southern ladies and gentlemen.

But summer ends for me at least when screens are put away and I must do that very soon, its forty six today.

HUGE VOTE ON TUESDAY

Former Records For Voting Fall

Estimate President Gets 27,904,949 And Gov. Landon 16,516,995

BIG MAJORITIES GIVEN ROOSEVELT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Figures on the greatest landslide in the history of the country since the "era of good feeling" in 1820 today gave President Roosevelt an estimated popular vote of 27,904,949.

Capturing every state except Maine and Vermont, his electoral vote was 523 against Gov. Alfred M. Landon's 8. The Landon popular vote is estimated at 16,516,995.

The vote for the presidency broke all records since the election of Monroe, who failed of a unanimous electoral vote only because one elector refused to place him on a par with George Washington.

Took Pivotal States

At that, the popular vote for Gov. Landon was greater than Herbert Hoover's 15,761,841 in 1932. Hoover in that year carried six states.

Roosevelt took all the pivotal states—Pennsylvania by an estimated plurality of 649,954; Ohio by 257,720; Illinois by 740,902 and New York by 1,170,071. California, which the Republicans had viewed hopefully, went for the new deal by 818,237.

Gubernatorial candidates supporting the new deal were swept into office in 28 of the 33 states which elected governors Tuesday, nearly complete returns showed.

Becker, employed as a watchman nearby, visited the lonely tower where Miss Bracken was working. According to a confession which the commonwealth introduced, Becker admitted he struck the operator with an inkwell stand when she repulsed his advances. Then, the statement continued, he slashed her throat and threw the body over an embankment where he attempted to assault her.

Defense attorneys claimed the statement was obtained from Becker after 72 hours of continuous questioning. They also contended he did not know what it was when he signed it.

Brookville, Pa., Nov. 5.—John Becker, 37, the burly night watchman convicted of the brutal slaying of Miss Katherine Bracken, 42, a railroad signal tower telegrapher, by a jury of 12 men which condemned him to death, slept soundly and unperturbed last night and appeared normal today, Sheriff S. G. Lowry reported.

An incessant snuff chewer, Becker was "working that habit overtime now," the sheriff reported.

Judge Jesse C. Long delayed formal sentence pending the anticipated motion for new trial and other court preliminaries.

"I did not do it," Becker exclaimed in court when L. G. Pearsall, the jury foreman, read the verdict. Standing silently, a hand in his pocket, he watched intently as Judge Long polled the jury.

"Well, it's all over," he commented to Deputy Sheriff Ronald Lowry as he was being led away.

The problem of continued relief probably will be left out of the January budget message just as it was early this year so the administration can have several months to sound out actual conditions. It was mid-March before President Roosevelt submitted his emergency estimates upon which the country is running until June 30 of next year.

REBEL TROOUS ADVANCING ON CENTER OF CITY

according to government claims, suffering most due to deadly loyalist machine-gun fire.

Observers termed the conflict the most desperate of the entire war.

Shelling Continues.

Loyal artillery stationed on the outskirts of Madrid shelled Leganos and Alcorcon now in rebel hands, without interruption throughout the night.

Rebel shells fell in Madrid in two separate bombardments at 12:40 and 1 a. m., but no damage was caused. Since the latter hour, the capital has suffered no artillery fire.

Detonations heard clearly here from the suburban front indicated that heavy artillery of a size hitherto unavailable by the government is now being used against the insurgents.

Windows of the International News Service in the Paladio de la Prensa vibrated with each explosion of the big guns. A thick veil of mist overhung the plain south of the capital where the main battle was in progress, shielding operations of the opposing armies from the eyes of distant watchers.

Warn of Raids.

Motorcycles racing through the streets with sirens wide open warned the populace of today's air raid. A few minutes later three tri-motored insurgent bombing planes and a pursuit plane roared over the center of the city from south to north. One of them flew at an altitude of only 2,000 feet.

The stutter of anti-aircraft guns was heard for some minutes before the planes disappeared.

According to latest indications, the rebel front now extends from Alcorcon through Leganos to the rear of Getafe and then inward as far as the village of Perales Del Rio.

Coincident with the new raid, the cabinet issued a manifesto admitting the situation is extremely grave but declaring the new offensive will be broken if every loyalist does his duty.

"Victory will be ours if every civilian realizes he is defending freedom of his country, the life of his dear ones and his own dignity."

Rebels In Suburbs.

Madrid, Nov. 5.—Fifty thousand rebel troops today are in the flaming suburbs of Madrid. The hour when the red and gold flag of the insurgents will flutter over the Puerta Del Sol is at hand, but the loyalists are making a desperate last stand only three miles from the heart of the capital.

Premier Francisco Largo Caballero today commandeered every automobile and truck in the city and ordered every able-bodied man sped to the front, where furious fighting is going on in the streets and fields.

Overnight the rebels have taken Getafe, six miles from the center of the city; Carabanchel, three; Alcorcon, seven, and Leganes, nine, where the street car from Puerta Del Sol ends.

Setting numerous fires, the modern six-inch guns and "75's" of the rebels continue shelling the suburbs, and the big tri-motored insurgent bombing planes bombed a wide area around the city, turning some villages into shambles of death and flame.

In these air raids, according to the Seville radio statement by Gen. Queipo De Llano, and in the fighting in the Getafe area, "hundreds of Madrid militiamen were killed, and seven Madrid airplanes were destroyed."

Boasts of Early Capture.

"Madrid will be captured this week," was the boast of Gen. Jose Varela as he led his Moors and foreign legionnaires into Getafe and trooper on almost to the big airport at Cuatrovinetos.

Already the rebels have made police arrangements to rule the city upon its occupation. A special committee has been appointed to "investigate the responsibilities' 'of each citizen. Several thousand special military police have been united into a corps to maintain order.

"A serious rebel attack is at this moment reported at the very gates of Madrid," the newspaper Claridad admitted wtih rare frankness today.

All 14 of Madrid's military airplanes have been flown away from Cuatrovientos, lest they fall into rebel hands.

From the International News Service office high in the skyscraper Palacio de la Prensa in the center of Madrid this correspondent watched the war panorama as the lines drew in on Madrid.

All day the thunder of cannon warned Madridians of the enemy's approach, and the efforts of the censorship to conceal the danger that the million residents can see for themselves have been abandoned.

I could see the puffs of artillery fire on the "Hill of Angels" at Leganes, and three times I saw the hill obscured by smoke, before the rebels occupied it.

Perales Del Rio, on the Aranjuez road south of Madrid, is afire, and the red glow and great clouds of smoke cover the entire village.

Drop 36 Bombs.

Three rebel airplanes dropped 36 bombs, some of them weighing 350 pounds, on Villaverde, Carabanchel and Getafe, setting fire to the artillery barracks at Getafe and the gasoline storage station at Carabanchel.

Five times rebel airplanes flew over the center of Madrid, but dropped no bombs.

One plane, however, swooped low over the wide Granvia, Madrid's "Broadway", raking the street with machine-gun fire.

The loyalists are answering the rebels with artillery fire from guns stationed in the center of the city. Tanks rumble through the streets, going out to the suburbs to meet the enemy. Fighting will soon be at its worst, in the very streets of Madrid proper.

Madrid resembles Paris in the great siege of 1870. Paving blocks are being pulled up from the streets to build barricades. Women, old men, and boys in the thousands are frantically at work building earthworks.

The rebel advance up the roads from the south has been exceedingly fast, but it was accomplished only by the most ferocious fighting.

Tanks and airplanes predominated in the conflict, but it was the superior discipline and masterful generalship of the insurgents that turned the tide in their favor.

Furious Onslaught.

Col. Juan Ascensio and Gen. Varela led the long attack, first seizing Alcorcon, which enabled them to attack Getafe from the flank. Rebel tanks and planes were met by the same kind of loyalist fighting units, and for five hours the titanic struggle raged back and forth.

The issue was finally decided late in the day when, under the furious onslaught of Moorish bayonets, the militiamen broke and fled. Six tanks were captured by the rebels.

Thousands are now fleeing along the still open highways to the east, towards Valencia. The Guadarrama front, northwest of Madrid, appears to be static, the rebels concentrating on their quick advance from the south and southwest. Their line now extends from Brunete, 13 miles west of here, with a salient bulging in to Carabanchel, and falling away again to the end of the right flank around Pinto.

"Confronted by circumstances," the cabinet has been reformed, still under Premier Largo Caballero, and with other chief offices unchanged, but including for the first time in Spanish history a woman and also members of the National Confederation of Labor (syndicalists).

The woman is Senora Frederica Montseny, a Catalonian syndicalist, made minister of health. The other three syndicalists are Garcia Oliver, justice; Juan Peiro, industry, and Juan Lopez, industry.

RIVERS AT HIGH STAGE AS RESULT OF STEADY RAINS

cast for tonight when the temperature will drop to about 30 degrees here.

Wheeling, W. Va., will experience its crest of 25 feet tomorrow afternoon, Brotzman said.

During the 24 hour period since 8 p. m. yesterday, the swollen Monongahela and Allegheny pushed up nine feet at the "point" where they join here.

Pittsburgh's rainfall in the past 48 hours was 2.1 inches and was matched in several other western Pennsylvania districts.

Johnstown, on the Conemaugh, and Uniontown, on the Monongahela, reported sharp rises, with smaller streams threatening to overflow their banks in the lowlands.

Rises Rapidly

Rivermen at Lock No. 5 on the Monongahela reported the water had risen as much as 3½ feet in the first 12 hours of the rise.

Central Ohio and West Virginia river communities also reported danger of high waters. Traffic, telegraph and light service was disrupted by a storm that raged through the Cincinnati-Louisville district.

Most of the flood waters were coming from the lower Allegheny and the Youghiogheny, according to Brotzman. He reported the Youghiogheny rose 9½ feet to 11.5 feet at West Newton, where flood stage is 20 feet.

Kittanning and Freeport on the Allegheny reported rises of six feet in the 24 hour period.

The Stony Creek at Johnstown, one of the major causes of the floods there, began to recede after swirling upward at a rapid rate under the impetus of an inch and a half of rain.

Brotzman said the Ohio will have little difficulty absorbing the swollen waters of the Allegheny and Monongahela.

"This is the time of the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. Within a few days, perhaps tomorrow or the next day, you will be asked to cast your support to the Lawrence County Chapter. The Red Cross continuing program of relief to disaster sufferers, of immediate care for those injured in the home on the farm and along the highway, and the splendidly human work of its devoted nurses, these things compel more than admiration, they demand active support through membership. Join now through your local chapter and keep this army of mercy at full strength."

Don't Irritate Gas Bloating

If you want to really GET RID OF GAS and terrible bloating, don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalies and "gas tablets." Most GAS is lodged in the stomach and upper intestine and is due to old poisonous matter in the constipated bowels that are loaded with ill-causing bacteria.

If your constipation is of long standing, enormous quantities of dangerous bacteria accumulate. Then your digestion is upset, GAS often presses heart and lungs, making life miserable.

You can't eat or sleep. Your head aches. Your back aches. Your complexion is sallow and pimply. Your breath is foul. You are a sick, grouchy, wretched, unhappy person. YOUR SYSTEM IS POISONED.

Thousands of sufferers have found in Adlerika the quick, scientific way to rid their systems of harmful bacteria. Adlerika rids you of gas and cleans foul poisons out of BOTH upper and lower bowels. Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika. Get rid of GAS. Adlerika does not gripe—is not habit forming. Eckerd's.

MAXIMUM POPULATION

IN THEORY this country could support a far greater population than it now contains. Its agricultural and industrial output might be enormously increased and there is certainly plenty of room for many more to live in spacious comfort.

There was a time when the ultimate population of the United States was estimated on the basis of these factors. Growth would continue, it was supposed, so long as there was increased production of the things which make life worth living.

Stubborn facts have overthrown these estimates. One of them is the rapidly declining birth rate, which has dropped twenty-five per cent in the last ten years. If this trend continues, according to Prof. O. E. Baker, of the Bureau of Agriculture, the maximum population of the United States will be reached within fifteen years, after which the population will decline rather rapidly.

There is a scientific theory, supported by many experiments and observations, that inscrutable natural laws determine the degree of crowding which living creatures can endure. The maximum population, under a given set of conditions, can be theoretically predicted. It was done a dozen years ago for the United States and the forecasts have been rather remarkably confirmed. For some reason, or many reasons, the birth rate has dropped until the predicted maximum population has nearly been reached.

TERROR OVER MADRID

Residents of Madrid are getting some idea of what the world fears the next war will be like. For some days airplanes of the insurgent forces have appeared over the city and have dropped bombs in the suburbs. A number of civilians have been killed and injured.

Almost as bad as the casualties is the panic into which the population of the city has been thrown whenever airplanes—even "friendly" craft—have appeared. Sirens sounding off several times in a day have sent people rushing into the subways and to other places of safety. And, while there are stories of people dancing in the subway concourses during the danger periods, the terror that rides the skies has its effect upon the morale of city populations.

It is assumed, of course, that bombings in Madrid suburbs have a military objective. But in the next war, we are told, cities will be bombed indiscriminately, with an aim to injure and destroy the fighting spirit of civilian populations as well as the soldiers at the front. This prospect has kept European nerves on edge for years.

THE EARLY VOTING CHAMPION

After holding for years the national record for early casting and counting of its presidential vote, New Ashford, Massachusetts, must hide its diminished head or bow it in humble salute to the new champion. Millsfield, New Hampshire, whose five votes for Mr. Landon and two for Mr. Roosevelt were cast, counted and the result flashed to a waiting world a few minutes after Monday midnight. The polls opened at 12:01 a. m. New Ashford voted 26 for Landon and 19 for Roosevelt at 6:38 a. m.

To early rising, long accounted one of the distinctive New England virtues, must now be added early voting, for the complete electorates of some Massachusetts and Vermont communities also arose with the lark, or whatever bird takes its place at this season of the year, and hustled to the polls.

The early riser, according to Sydney Smith's saying, is conceited all the forenoon and sleepy all the afternoon. But the consciousness of performance of civic duty not only done, but done early, should be ample compensation for that dreamy feeling as well as excuse for taking a well-earned afternoon nap.

Some Comment On Result Of Election

(International News Service)

New York Times (Ind.-Dem.)—"To meet successfully the conditions which still confront him President Roosevelt will need a flowing together of minds, north and south, east and west. This he may have if he now exhibits statesmanlike poise and a spirit of devotion to the good of the whole people. Their vote of confidence on Tuesday carries with it the hope that he may prove to be a master-builder for a still damaged and troubled America."

New York Sun (Ind.-Rep.)—"No amount of money could have been the single factor in the sweeping victory of President Roosevelt, but money played a very important part. * * * Cash here, baloney there; it seems that both were welcome. * * * Mr. Roosevelt's personality had much to do with the result."

New York World-Telegram (Ind.)—"The hatreds will soon be gone with the wind of a blustery campaign now dead. But the job will remain. * * * The speed and sureness with which we move from here on will be in direct ratio to the magnanimity and the objectivity which this much-maligned president of ours is able to show."

New York Herald-Tribune (Rep.)—"This triumph is plainly not for the Democratic party. No more is it for any clear set of principles or policies. Rather is it a rising vote of confidence in a man. If that man interprets it as a grant of power to lead the nation where it seems to him best to lead it, we do not see how those who voted for him can complain. * * * Two obstacles still interpose. They are the constitution and the supreme court."

No War Now—W. R. Hearst.

The Brain Of Man.

Poor Wall St., Few Friends.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

IN A NEW YORK TIMES interview, William Randolph Hearst, rececntly returned from Europe, after traveling extensively for three months, expressed the opinion that immediate war is improbable. Said he:

"I don't think any nation wants to go to war, or has the money to go to war. I think the nations are afraid of the internal consequences of war."

MR. HEARST believes that wiping out the Versailles Treaty has removed the greatest disturbing factor. Mr. Hearst said:

"The Versailles treaty was not a peace treaty. It was a war treaty, but now it is out of the way. Another source of war was the League of Nations, but I think that is out of the way, too.

"I think war is less likely today than at any time since the World War. The countries of Europe have plenty of internal difficulties now, but among themselves there is no trouble."

That is good news for the United States, now about as well prepared for war as the old lady with the mop was prepared for her task of mopping up the Atlantic ocean.

THE THINKING POWER usually called "a soul", residing inside of man's brain, the "ivory temple, the skull", is, to put it moderately, a wonderful contrivance. Helen Keller, deaf and blind from birth, sat listening to Bishop Freeman's sermon on the useful, devoted life of Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, who spent years teaching Helen Keller to talk in spite of deafness, and to know the world and become well educated in spite of blindness.

ON HELEN KELLER'S hand, as she sat, hearing not a word, the sermon was "tapped out" by a friend.

Born deaf and dumb, never having heard a sound of human speech,

ALMOST ANY MAN'S PRAYER

LORD, I'M NOT very good . . . I can't seem to be as good as I try to be. Sometimes I climb fairly high, sometimes I do decent things. But my heart troubles me with the memory of all those times when I sinned against my own knowledge of the good.

Lord, I am not very wise . . . Sometimes I stand bewildered at the crossroads. I see such a little way before me. I find it so difficult to choose the right path. I make so many mistakes. Experience helps me so little. I am such a foolish fellow.

Lord, I am not very strong . . . In big moments I sometimes do the right thing. I stand up then and seem big enough to bear the blast. . . . But the big moments come so seldom. There are so few times that command all of me into the battle that call upon all the power that is in me.

And this, Lord, is what I am trying to get at, what I'm trying to ask of You . . . I do not make many prayers. I try to stand by myself as much, as often, as I can . . . And I'm not asking You now for goodness, for wisdom, for strength. But I do wish you would help me to keep from little pettinesses.

Tell me how to avoid, to conquer, the Little Deaths . . . Those are the things that ruin a man's happiness, that spoil his friendships, that make him difficult to live with . . . Those small vanities, those little selfishnesses, arrogances, meannesses, those peevish explosions that dull the brightness of life and make him wish he'd never been born. Those ones you know so little about.)

I can take care of the Big Things, Lord, if You will only show me how to take care of the Little Deaths. Those little deaths that sometimes make my days a misery and a despair and a chronic annoyance. It's a funny thing, Lord—and maybe You're laughing at me—that I should be so much trouble, but I promise to take care of all the rest if You'll just give me a Helping Hand with these smaller things that keep me from growing as big as I want to be.

I'm looking up at You, Lord, and waiting for Your answer.

Now that the election is past, let's try to get on speaking terms again with our neighbors.

Looking back through our files at some of the predictions made by political prophets, we are reminded that even the groundhog sometimes makes mistakes.

A St. Louis woman says she killed her divorced husband because he refused to re-marry her. That ought to give divorced husbands something to think about.

Those Canadian women seem to be having a lively time with their "baby derby." They seem to be getting all the credit. Looks as though they ought to share a little of it with father.

THE ETERNAL QUESTION

The new style hats have come to town.
(That's the beginning of it.)
Although she has an assortment of hats, she wants a new one.
(That's the woman of it.)
He says he thinks she can get along with the old ones—as he does.
(That's the man of it.)
She insists she can't and she's going to have it no matter what he says. All the other women have new hats.
(That's the woman of it.)
He says "not if he knows it!"
(That's the man of it.)
She breaks down and cries.
(That's the woman of it.)
He gives in.
(That's the end of it.)

If the time ever comes when the farm boy who is a champion corn husker gets as much publicity as the city lad who is a football kicker, we will feel sure that both have some interests in common.

Women have one advantage. A man wouldn't reach for a smoke so often if he could reach for his knitting.

It isn't such a far cry from the pumpkin in the field to the pie on the table, but there are still a lot of people who would rather pull their pumpkin from a can.

Parents don't have to worry any longer what their children will be when they grow up. The answer is easy. They'll be taxpayers.

Now that the campaign's been plowed under, I can git on with my fall plowin'.

Two East Side women met in a local store. One remarked to the other: "You seem unusually busy this morning, what's all the excitement?" Second lady: "I'll say I'm busy. I am trying to get something for my husband." First lady: "Had any offers yet?"

A statement was made in a recent divorce case proceeding that in several states it is unlawful for a man to marry either his mother-in-law or his sister-in-law. That's going to worry a lot of men who have had their eyes on their mother-in-law.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

John Philip Sousa used to love to tell one about two members of his famous band, or rather, about their wives. One, a bride of a year, was pushing a perambulator in which were babies—triplets!

The other had only been married a few weeks.

"What beautiful babies!" exclaimed the newly married one.

"Yes," replied the proud mother, "and let me tell you the funniest coincidence. At our wedding Mr. Sousa and some of the band serenaded us and they played "Three Little Maids" from the 'Mikado.' Isn't that funny?"

At this the other lady turned pale. "Good heavens!" she gasped, "We were serenaded, too, and they played the Sextette from 'Lucia'!"

Pop—In this country, my son, it is generally done by the grand jury.

Denunciation of money changers is all hooey. We don't care who changes the money just so it changes pockets.

New Castle voters can get out early if they want to. This was demonstrated on Tuesday when the most of the voting in some precincts was done in the forenoon. Some even went without their breakfatss and were so excited that they forgot to eat dinner.

Everybody could forget the election in a few days if those who collected straw votes would stop explaining.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

A motorst was driving toward a small town, when he saw an old man running down the road toward him at a great rate The motorist had a hard time to avoid him.

"What are running like that for?" the driver asked as he pulled up.

"There is a circus in town and three tigers have broken loose," the man panted.

"Which way did they go?"

"Well," replied the old man, you don't suppose I'm chasing them, do you?"

So many speed traps are scattered around over the country that it behooves the motorist to use his head instead of his foot.

Government emergency purchases of cattle, hogs, sheep and goats made nearly 1,000,000,000 pounds of meat available to those on relief.

Dear Miss Markel: I was married recently and one of my friends gave a dinner and shower in my honor. I am sure she thus spent no small amount of money, besides the trouble it must have been to her, as she works every day. Is it customary to do something or give something to show one's appreciation? If so, what would be proper and fitting? INDEBTED.

Answer—As soon you are settled in your new home and it is convenient for you to do so, entertain this friend in some way—have her in to dinner and to spend the evening or give a party and invite her and, possibly, send her a lovely gift next Christmas.

Dear Miss Markel: I am going to be married at a rather informal home wedding at which I shall wear a velvet dinner dress. Is it necessary for the mothers of the bride and groom to wear dinner dresses and corsages? BRIDE.

Answer—Yes, the mothers of the bride and the groom should wear dinner clothes, also. And it is customary for the bridegroom to supply both with corsages to be worn to the wedding.

The World At A Glance

Campaigns Too Long.
How Can They Be Shortened?
Keeps Country Perturbed.

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—From politicians, already beginning to drift back into Washington, with the presidential fight ended, one hears the quite frequent complaint that national campaigns are too long.

Just how they could be shortened, however, is not apparent.

Conventions, of course, could be held much closer to election day. Party managers choose their dates. They could choose late September and early October as readily as they do regularly choose late June and early July. No constitutional amendment would be required to effect the change.

Thus the campaign's length could be trimmed from 17 to 18 weeks to six or seven.

NO RELIEF

That is to say, such a curtailment would be a theoretical possibility.

But in actual practice, wouldn't the pre-convention jockeying for nominations be about as wearisome, for months in advance, as the campaigns proper are now?

Critics of the present system argue that a prolonged campaign keeps the country perturbed and business in a state of uncertainty for an unnecessary number of months. To be sure, business does not appear to have been adversely influenced by the 1936 campaign, but in general the rule has held good; campaign years have been notoriously poor business years.

Yet would business feel any more secure, if, instead of having two known candidates opposing one another for election, it had half a dozen candidates per party to reckon with as nomination potentialities?

A HABIT—HARD TO CHANGE

True, as to this year, there was no uncertainty concerning the Democratic nomination, but there was a-plenty of it concerning the Republicans'.

Would the situation have been clarified if G. O. P. uncertainty had been three months prolonged I can't see that it would. The contrary.

I do realize that campaign oratory gets pretty tired of a four-month task and would like to shave it down by 75 per cent. And I think the public gets pretty tired of it, too.

But it is a habit. I don't believe it can be broken.

A SIX-YEAR TERM?

More to the point, I hear the suggestion made that the United States should adopt the system of a six-year presidential term, with the president ineligible to re-election.

The notion obviously is that a president, once elected, is influenced in all his first term's policies, by thoughts of re-election, and never is independent and disinterested until (and if) his second term.

Four years is not enough, the argument is; he should have six.

It is an arbitrary figure, but it will do.

DOES IT WORK?

I have lived in a country in which that rule prevails—the Argentine Republic.

But there is this joker in it:

The president is ineligible to re-election upon the expiration of his term, but he is not ineligible to re-election upon the expiration of his successor's term.

Accordingly, what he does with his term, with a view to his successor's term, with a view to his own subsequent re-election — Oh, my

It worked in the case of the late President Irigoyen of Argentina — and the republic has been having revolutions ever since.

Between theory and practice there is a great gulf.

REMINISCENCE

When I was courting Nellie in those happy days of old
The ladies nibbled chocolate drops,
as much as they could hold.
There were no diet fads back then,
to put it in a line.
They made no visable attempt to shape the form divine.
And liking sweets they dined on sweets—and there the matter ended,
Taking their poundage as a thing
the Lord above intended.

Three times a week or more perchance as I should find it handy.
I stood on Nellie's doorstep, 'neath
my arm a box of candy.
I must have been a welcome sight;
the neighbors wisely nodded.
I knew they knew where I was bound as past their doors I plodded.
I fancied I could hear them say:
"His love for her grows greater.
He's taking candy there again!
We'll call upon them later."

I courted her with chocolate drops.
Her brothers fairly dribbled
Throughout that year of our romance as on her sweets they nibbled.
Not once I heard her mother say:
"My dear, you must refuse them.
You know you're ten pounds overweight and have to starve to lose them."
And then I bought a five-pound box!
It really was a stunner,
I wished I'd done it long ago—for that's the night I won her.

Last night while on my homeward way—that's why this verse is written—
I passed a young and bright-eyed chap, quite plainly Cupid smitten.
I watched him mount the steps near by where loveliness resided
And smiled to see him ring the bell,
as eagerly as I did.
I knew that sign of earnest love. I knew they'd soon be married.
For 'neath his arm a five-pound box of chocolate drops he carried.

GREAT BRIDGES

This seems to be a Bridge Building Era in the United States. The great and increasing number of Motor Vehicles is no doubt responsible for this.

The spanning of San Francisco Bay with the two great bridges furnishes the most spectacular results of this sort of engineering skill. There are evidenced there two types of structures, the suspension and the cantilever. From the great towers at the Golden Gate are swung the enormous strands of cables carrying a broad roadway from the Presidio Hills to the heights above Sausolito. No suspension so great has ever yet been attempted.

From the business center of the city to the Island and thence to Oakland is the other example of the Builder's skill. Massive in its stone, concrete and steel parts, it will, on two Roadways, carry all manner of traffic across the Bay.

My New York
By James Aswell

Copyright, 1936, Central Press Association

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—It isn't often, at this stage of the game, that your reporter gets wrought up over a night club. They are for the most part dull and mercenary parlors and their only justification is that they corral vast numbers of dull and pretentious people and keep them confined together for hours every night.

Yet I think the newly opened Crystal Room of the Ritz Carlton comes close to being what a night club ought to be, if there must be such institutions. It's expensive, of course; all night clubs are expensive, even the joints which brag about having no cover charge. But for those who want to invest their money in cabaret hoopla, the Ritz upholstered cellar is, in this opinion, a Grade A bistro.

For one thing, it is in good taste. This is so astonishing in a night club that it is almost like meeting a politician with his palm closed. Clark Robinson, who did the Music Hall, furnished this room. The place has a faintly Roman air, with Doric pillars and a sweep of steps for the gals to walk down, showing off their 57th St. or 14th St. rags. It has a cool spaciousness too and is invested with what can only be summoned up in much-overplayed word: glamor.

And you can cross your legs, sitting at table, without kicking the lady at the next table in the back of the neck. Moreover the toplofty Ritz has had sense enough to throw overboard the hidebound traditions of the "swank" (Lord, how I hate that word!) places—the circle-eyed tango team, the slightly bulbous song-shouter whose dress is too tight for her, the master of ceremonies who could get a diploma at Vassar without causing any surprise among the student body.

Instead the hotel called in Clifford Fischer, of the French Casino, and told him to put on a lively show. He did, importing a line of girls, a troupe of acrobats and a magician who makes bird cages disappear and performs a number of other childish and engrossingly feats of sleight-of-hand. The Ritz had the good sense, in short to realize that the old circusy spectacles are the only dependable amusement merchandise. A couple of clowns swatting each other, or a flock of cuties kicking up their heels, will enrapture men and women in their play hours long after those somewhat exhausted folk who sit at pianos chanting cutely obscene lyrics have been crossed off the programs as aberrations of the Thirties.

I go to night clubs as seldom as possible; the necessities of my profession occasionally demand that I attend. But for all their tawdry commercialism of Romance, for all their final failure to satisfy the deep human urges that bring people to them, they probably serve a purpose. They serve as a bright goal for much workaday striving; and if, after a man has chinned himself into the wherewithal to indulge in night clubs, he finds them shallow mirages on tin, that is really no argument against them. Other very dignified ambitions, once attained, go pretty dusty too.

William Bolitho, describing the rise of Montmartre, the hectic cabaret capital of the world, wrote years ago:

"It is the dream-goal of that unrepentant animal in humanity that makes pioneers, gold-seekers, fortune-builders of all breeds work for the simple motive of future illimitable pleasures, and so, believing Kipling, do their share in the world. . . . The range of material pleasures is limited. . . . Man's brains have transformed the earth and sea, but sensuality remains where it was before the flood. . . . Without what Montmartre stands for, countless honest, hard-working men would not know what to dream to do with their money. . . ."

And so when a cabaret arises which is not quite so banal and depressing as the rest, I note it here. I don't know why, but it's strange that the Ritz should foster the gayest and pleasantest of the hotcha halls frequented by the uppity set.

Presenting the phenomenal facts about GULFPRIDE
THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR OIL

AN AMAZING TEST. Bottle No. 1 shows a mixture of 6 famous Pennsylvania motor oils. Bottle No. 2 shows them after being put through the Alchlor process. Bottle No. 3 shows the 20% waste removed from these already highly-refined oils by the Alchlor process. This process starts where others stop! That's why GULFPRIDE is the world's finest motor oil.

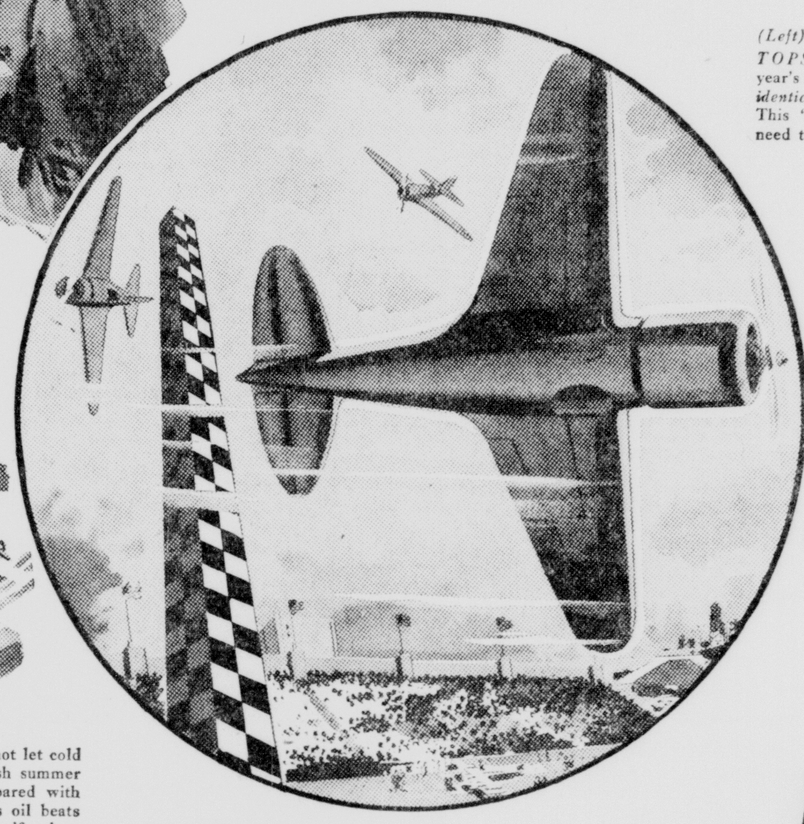

BEWARE WINTER! Better not let cold weather catch you with sluggish summer oil in the crankcase. Be prepared with WINTER GULFPRIDE. This oil beats on every point the winter oil specifications set up by the U. S. Navy. It flows freely below zero. Starts quickly. Saves your motor and battery. Refill now!

THE facts on this page sound hard to believe. But here is the reason why GULFPRIDE—and only GULFPRIDE—can accomplish such results . . .

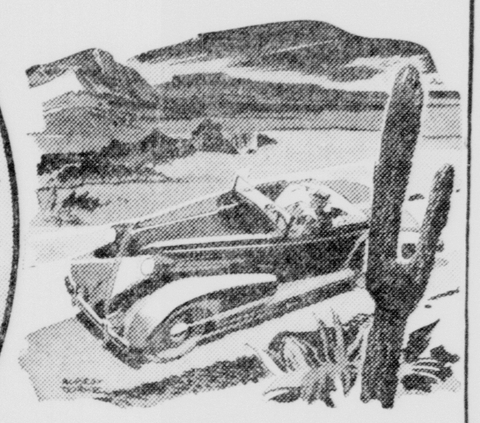

Gulf begins with selected Pennsylvania crude, refines it to a motor oil that equals the best—then further refines it by the exclusive Alchlor process.

Only GULFPRIDE is made by this process—result of 15 years' research—the same scientific research that has made every Gulf product a leader.

Read the facts below. Then drain your dirty summer-worn oil and refill with GULFPRIDE now. At all Gulf dealers.

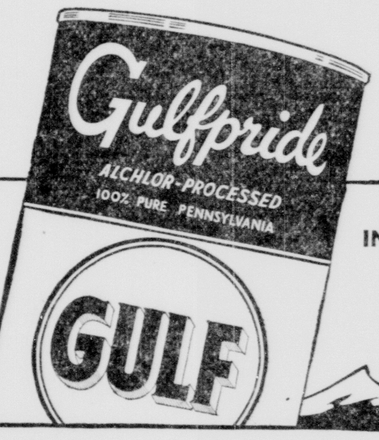

(Left)
TOPS IN THE AIR—8 out of the 11 winners in last year's National Air Races used GULFPRIDE OIL, the identical oil you can buy for your car at any Gulf dealer. This "aviator's oil" will take you farther before you need to add a quart than any other oil you ever used!

LATE ONE NIGHT a Gulfpride user got a broken oil pump 40 miles from the nearest garage. Not a drop of oil could circulate. Yet he drove in with his motor unharmed, thanks to the amazing film of GULFPRIDE that protected the moving parts. Use Gulfpride in your car for greatest protection.

BE PREPARED! CHANGE TO WINTER GULFPRIDE

Helen Keller instantly "heard" through finger tapping on her hand an abstract sermon on the moral devotion of her dead friend. The scientist who calls man "an ingenious mechanical contrivance" would find it difficult to duplicate the thinking part of that contrivance.

MR. LEMKE, who was running for President, says he "voted 100 per cent for the people and against Wall Street on every issue". It did not occur to him that he might vote against Wall Street and the people simultaneously. When enterprising men in Wall Street provide the money, as they usually do, to build railroads, they simultaneously create many union jobs,and increase the value of farms and the prosperity of farmers.

Never condemn wholesale.

AT RIPON, WISCONSIN, a small old schoolhouse stands on the campus of Ripon college, and there the Republican party is supposed to have been born. Last Monday some citizens, presumably enthusiastic Democrats, broke the windows in the old school building, scattered lime and red paint. They probably did not know that Abraham Lincoln was an early Republican; for they could have no objection to him, at this late date.

ENGLAND WAS in a bad way financially, jobs scarce, war recent. A radical labor party came to power with a labor union prime minister.

Prosperity has now returned to England, money is more plentiful, jobs less scarce; so you read "Laborites suffer big setback in Britain; Conservatives gain city and borough seats." Prosperity and conservatism usually come back, hand-in-hand.

GOVERNMENT IN AMERICA becomes more and more complicated. You have religious gentlemen telling the people what to do, not about going to heaven and keeping out of hell, but about voting. You read the statement of Samuel C. McCluney, treasurer of the Republican state committee in Missouri, that he had to pay $1,000 to a St. Louis electrical workers union "to assure a broadcast of Gov. Landon's speech." Mr. McCluney gives the name of the union's business agent to whom he paid the $1,000. To be able to say "pay $1,000 or keep off the air" means to have power.

THE PACIFIC COAST has a ship strike, the government of the United States needs certain supplies and is told it may have the supplies delivered if it gets the proper union labor permit. That seems rather like puttng things upside down.

IN NEW YORK CITY, as you have read, enthusiastic members of a theatrical labor union quarreling with the management and with another union, exploded stench bombs and tear gas bombs in eight theaters, driving 13,000 inoffensive citizens into the streets, tears running from their eyes, some with legs badly cut by glass bombs that exploded under their seats. That happened again four days later in six theaters. Americans like to see moving pictures and will hope that unions will be able to settle their quarrels without bombing or gassing an inoffensive public. A less docile sort of Americans would do more than "hope".

have never been around cows much. They can kick in any direction, and usually do, for they let go in a sort of wild, swift arc," contributes William Fitzsimmons, Elkton, Md.

Any Ray Keck, Imperial Beach, Calif., writes another wrong: "Mr. Seaman is screwy about seagulls never roosting on ships at sea. I've crossed or been on just about every body of water in the world, and I think I am an authority on seagulls rootsing. . . . In 1917, seagulls attached themselves to our convoy in New York and never left us until we hit St. Nazaire, France. In the daytime they roosted on our masts and in the nighttime they slept there. Furthermore, the gulls roosted in the stables of several of the cattleships—these stables were below decks. The gulls got in through large vent hatches. Gulls never go out to sea more than about 20 miles unless they are following a ship. Gulls can't live at sea without man's food. Out in the deeper water, the smaller fish on which gulls subsist mostly, are non-existent."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

be carried high in the air, much above the superstructure and masts of all shipping. The War Department of the Federal Government opposed the building of these Bridges for several years for fear that an enemy might block the great Harbor by the destrtction of the Bridges. There is yet that danger, although the Harbor is so deep beneath the structure that it is believed the debris, in the event the bridge towers were blown up, would sink out of danger to ship's bottom.

The entrance to New York on Highway No. 1 is another example of the Bridge Building Art. Over the marshes, the river and the roofs of the city, the motorist now drives free from all traffic almost to the mouth of the Hudson Tunnel. From the City's end of the Tunnel a sharp turn and two blocks driving, carries the automobile up on the North River Elevated Roadways. Eventually, this elevated Highway will take the automobile to another marvelous Bridge, the George Washington, over the Hudson and beyond, avoiding all congested travel in the Metropolis.

On the Pacific Coast Highway No. 101, in Oregon, until this year, the motorist has been compelled to make five long ferries. Now the State of Oregon has completed and opened for travel, without toll, five gorgeous Bridges. These structures are high, wide and handsome, in very truth, gorgeous. The one at North Bend, crossing Coos Bay, compares with any other Bridge here mentioned. The interesting thing about these Bridges on 101 Highway is that they are all of the same design, all accommodating four-way traffic, all carrying the arms of the State and all reflecting the glory for the Bridge Builders.

The Oregon Bridges are toll free, while to cross the George Washington Bridge a toll of fifty cents is required and it is proposed to charge sixty-five cents to cross the San Francisco structures.

Youth To Get $500; Rescued Four Persons

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A twentieth century Horatio Alger hero arrived here from Flint, Mich., today to receive his reward—a $500 prize for an outstanding act of heroism.

Armed only with an ingratiating grin and a sprightly sense of humor, Milton Ross, a 17-year-old youth from a small country town in northern Alabama, has been knocking about the country seeking odd jobs ever since he left grammar school.

He was walking along an embankment of the Flint river in Flint, Mich., one day when he heard a splash. In the river, he saw the wheels of an overturned car that had just plunged in from a parking lot on the bank.

Rescues Four

Leaping off the 25-foot embankment, he swam below the surface, opened a rear door of the car and seized a woman. Bringing her to the surface he learned her two boys were also in the car. Diving again he rescued the youngsters. From them he learned that still another woman, the driver, was still in the car.

On his last dive he had difficulty in extricating the driver. The woman had become entangled beneath the stering wheel with the lever and pedals. Tearing her loose, not without some injury, he brought her to the surface. Her life was saved and her injuries eventually healed.

After appearing on Kate Smith's program tonight, Milton will go back to Flint where he hopes he will now get a steady job in one of the automobile factories.

New Jersey Woman Suing For $162,000

Asks New Haven Railroad To Pay Her Big Sum, Doctors Were Wrong

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 5.—Twenty years ago Miss Jean Annett, 43, Red Bank, N. J., was given two years to live.

Today she based a $162,000 federal court suit on the assumption she will live another 20 years.

After Miss Annett was injured in a railroad accident in 1916, physicians said she would live only two years. The New Haven railroad agreed to pay her $10,000 and $700 a month for life.

The monthly payments stopped when the railroad began reorganization proceedings under the federal bankruptcy act. Miss Annett has sued for a lump sum payment of the total of monthly payments due during the next 20 years. She appeared in court in a wheel chair which she has not left since the accident 20 years ago.

O. J. H. HARTSUFF TAKEN BY DEATH THIS MORNING

cation were not his, but despite this he rose from a position in the steel mill here to the general managership of the Edgar Thompson Works in Braddock, one of the world's largest steel plants. Among steel men he was recognized as a genius and for a number of years was a member of the board of directors of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Mr. Hartsuff entered the steel business in 1892 when he started in the New Castle Works as a machinist under his father who was the master mechanic. His ability soon demonstrated itself and he was promoted to the superintendency of the blooming mill and then to the superintendency of the bar department. In 1907 when John S. Oursler was made district manager of the New Castle and Sharon Works, Mr. Hartsuff was made the general superintendent of the New Castle Works.

Then To Sharon

At the time of the World War Mr. Hartsuff was made general superintendent of the Sharon plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, and a short time later was made the general superintendent of the Edgar Thompson Works of Braddock. Here he established himself as one of the outstanding steel makers of the world and under his guidance the plant broke all its previous production records. About three years ago he retired and returned to New Castle to live.

Was 33rd Degree Mason

The vigor and initiative that marked him as a steel maker also marked his affiliations with various fraternities. He was a member of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks for many years and was largely responsible for the construction of the present home the order occupies on North Mill street. He was also member of the following orders: Lodge of the Craft, No. 433, F. & A. M., Delta Royal Arch Chapter No. 170 R. A. M., Hiram Council No. 45, R. & S. M. M., Lawrence Commandery No. 62, Knights Templar, all of the bodies of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, Valley of New Castle, Sovereign Grand Inspector General of the Thirty Third degree of the Supreme Council, 33 degree for the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction, Syria Temple, A.A.O N.M.S., Pittsburgh Court No. 2, Royal Order of Jesters. He was a member of board of directors of the Cathedral Association. His church membership was the First Presbyterian of New Castle.

Mr. Hartsuff is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah Leslie Hartsuff, a daughter Mrs. Edwin Thomas, of Lisbon, O., two grandchildren, John Hartsuff Thomas and Edwin W. Thomas, Jr., and the following sisters, Mrs. Meada Lind, Miss Dove Hartsuff and Miss Carrie Hartsuff.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon, November 7, at three o'clock from the family residence at 1412 Highland avenue. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Wage Adjustment Negotiations Are Still Progressing

President Of Carnegie-Illinois Company Issues Statement

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Negotiations between employe representatives and the management for a "wage adjustment" are still in progress, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, reported today.

His remarks, interpreted generally as implying a wage increase, followed by a few moments the statement of Phillip Murray, chairman of the current steel unionization drive, that a total of 82,315 members had been enrolled.

Fairless's statement read:

"Negotiations between the employe representatives and the management for a wage adjustment at all plants of the company are progressing.

"Informal discussions between officials of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation and the elected representatives of the employee groups have been going on for some months.

"These discussions grew out of the widespread requests for an increase in the wage scale, particularly in the lower earning brackets.

"It is confidently hoped that these negotiations will reach a successful conclusion.

"The chief obstacle to final consideration of the wage question has been the economic position of the steel industry, which suffered very severely in the years of depression and only recently began to emerge from conditions of low production, greatly reduced sales and large operating deficits.

"The negotiations now under way are being held under the collective bargaining procedure introduced with the adoption of the employe representation plan several years ago."

Dorothy Kilgallen To Retrace Her Trip

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—I'm going around the world again!

Not by plane and train and ship, but by the magic of radio, I'm going to revisit Friday evening all the strange and exciting countries I touched so briefly on my record globe girdling adventure.

I'll say hello at 6 p. m. to Germany, Italy, Egypt, Persia, India, Indo-China, Siam, China, Burma and Manila. Then I'll go even further and introduce myself to the two continents I didn't hit on my flight—South America and Australia.

This time I'm not going alone. I'll be accompanied on my radio "tour" by my father, James L. Kilgallen, who was left at home on the original jaunt.

Dad will interview me on the air, asking questions about the cities I stopped at and the sights I saw. His queries and my replies will be translated into the many different languages I had such difficulties with when I was trying to get across those foreign places in a hurry.

I'm going to love retracing my steps this way. I'm anxious to say hello to General Von Epp in Munich—he was so nice to me on the way over in the Hindenburg, and on the plane trip from Frankfort to Munich and to some people I met in Verona and Rome, and Athens. I hope Luen Bongsobhon, my Siamese pilot, is listening in in Bangkok—I'll never forget the ride he gave me, and I don't think he will, either.

Then there are people in Hong Kong who helped speed me from Kai Tak airport to the waiting President Pierce. I'd like to thank them. And those in Manila, where I had such a fine time.

Incidentally, to make this broadcast, I'll have to go traveling again! I thought it would be a long time before I took a ride in anything faster than a New York taxicab, but I'll board a plane for Albany and motor to Schenectady for the broadcast, which will emanate from the General Electric studios there over short wave station W2XAD and W2XAF.

I'll be awfully glad to get in a plane again. After traveling 22,000 miles, most of them spent in the air, I don't feel at home on the ground.

A week or so "in the hangar" is enough. Then I get landsick. I'm landsick now—and the only cure is altitude.

LOSE FAT THE EASY WAY

Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

Here's a way to get rid of ugly fat that works hand in hand with Nature. Millions of people are losing millions of pounds of flabby flesh and getting back slender figures, without the need of starvation diets or back-breaking exercises.

Medical science has discovered that one of the causes of too much fat lies in a little gland. It is the duty of this tiny gland to make about one drop and a half every day of a vital fluid. This helps the body "burn" up food and excess fatty tissues just as a good draft of air helps the furnace to burn up coal without forming "clinkers." If this little gland doesn't make this drop and a half of fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat.

Doctors correct this condition by feeding this little gland the substance it lacks—and Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on this same method. Millions are using them with success. They are prepared by a world-famous medical laboratory. Their formula is published in every package so you know what you are taking.

So don't waste time and money with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Go to your druggist today and get a box of Marmola. Try this simple, easy way to get rid of excess fat.

Straw Votes Lose Prestige

Didn't Come Close In Forecasts To Election Result Tuesday

POLL TAKERS WIDE OF MARK THIS TIME

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—Straw votes may show which way the wind doth blow, but they don't register much in a hurricane.

This was disclosed today in a survey of the various straw polls taken on the presidential election.

The balloting of some 45,000,000 voters—"the poll that ended all polls"—demonstrated that the poll takers were quite generally wide of the mark.

Of the principal polls, the Crossley and Gallup polls were nearer the mark, both predicting President's re-election by sustantial majorities. Even they, however, failed to accurately estimate its unprecedented sweep. These polls were taken by somewhat different methods, but by so-called "scientific sampling."

The highly-touted Literary Digest poll, which boasted of an unblemished record in predicting the outcome of presidential election contests, was so completely wrong that statisticians regarded it with amazement today. How the Digest poll is taken has never been fully explained, that being a "secret" of the editors.

The Digest gave Gov. Landon 32 states and 379 electoral votes. As it looks now he carried but two states (Maine and Vermont) with an electoral vote of 9.

The Story Telling class for Sunday Schcool teachers and mothers, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. will be conducted on Friday, from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. in order to admit men and women who cannot attend the Wednesday afternoon class. Prospective members are invited to bring their own Sunday School lessons in order that they may gain practice in telling the lesson story. The following letter was sent to all ministers of the community from Mrs. Archibald Davis, chairman of the religious education committee of the Y. W. C. A.:

"One of the oldest methods of teaching is that of story telling. It was Jesus' method, and his parables are considered "little gems.' Story telling is the most effective way to put forth a truth.

"Mothers, S. S. teachers, department superintendents, and all who are interested in character-building will have the opportunity to join a class in story-telling at 2p. m.. at the Y. W. C. A., on Wednesday [illegible]. Eve Nicklin is a graduate of the Kansas City National [illegible] School for Christian Workers, and has had eight years experience in teaching story-telling and pageantry for church and mission groups.

There is no fee for the class since Miss Nicklin is a government teacher.

Strict Neutrality To Be Followed By U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The cornerstone of the second Roosevelt administration in foreign relations will be pursuance of the "good neighbor" policy, Secretary of State Hull said today. The United States will seek to promote prosperity for this country and the rest of the world thrcugh extension of its trade agreements program, clearing away barriers to revival of international trade.

By stimulating a return of "good times" through a freer flow of trade, the administration believes it will go a long way toward maintenance of peace.

If, and when, foreign war comes, the United States will adhere to an attitude of strict neutrality, Hull said.

Beaming with pride in the vindication of his program of reciprocal trade agreement, which came with the Roosevelt re-election landslide, Hull defined the charted course of the United States in its foreign relations during the next four years.

Hull's statements was regarded by observers as a definite indication that renewal of the neutrality and reciprocal trade acts, which expire next year, will be sought in the new congress.

The neutrality act permits the president to clamp down an embargo on shipment of arms, munitions and instruments of war against both sides when nations are at war.

There is only one way to solve a social problem. You may get 40 answers to an arithmetic problem, but you haven't done anything till you get the right one.

Later the hostess served a delicious lunch. She was assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. Emma Moss and Mrs. O. S. Bennet. Halowe'en decorations were used throughout the house and made the setting a most attractive one.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 5—Kate Roosevelt, eight-months-old daughter of the president's son, James, and Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, today had stolen the show away from the newly re-elected president, at least as far as the family was concerned.

Excitement filled the great old Roosevelt mansion as the christening of the blue-eyed, curly-haired baby was performed in the drawing room by Rev. Frank Wilson.

The president excluded all outside visitors and put aside thousands of congratulatory messages from all parts of the country and left his study to "sit in" on the ceremony.

For Double-Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Better Than Ready-Made Medicines. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, but, for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for coughs that start from colds. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Premier Blum Faces Big Test

Budget Is Formally Presented To Chamber Of Deputies

ISSUE IMPORTANT; SEE REAL SHOWDOWN

By LINDESAY PARROTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 5.—With a whole series of highly controversial social measures for presentation and a budget problem of grave importance, the Blum government faced perhaps the hardest test of its career today as parliament re-assembled in the year's second emergency session.

The Blum budget was formally submitted to the chamber of finance minister Vincent Auriol when parliament convened at 3:00 p. m. One of the more troublous details was provision for a billion dollar government loan to finance 1937's national defense costs.

Faced with a certain deficit, the ministers were confronted with the task of showing in black and white figures just exactly what it will cost to maintain for another year the 40-hour week, the paid vacations, and the various other pro-labor measures which the government pushed through at the last session.

Objections that the cost has been too high are certain to come from the right groups of the chamber and from the senate.

The issue is more important than merely another showdown between the left majority and the minority rights. At the Biarritz congress recently the most important demands of the radical socialists, the second largest party participating in Blum's government, were for a determined effort toward a balanced budget.

The radical Socialists, as the congress showed, include a large section opposed to government shared with the Communists, and therefore at least vaguely hostile to continuing the radical party's participation in the Blum government.

Therefore, unless Blum's ministers are able to demonstrate to the deputies that the government's program is not only desirable but economically sound, they may race a combination of right-radical Socialist opposition capable of overthrowing the Blum regime.

Flood Threats At Albany, N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 5.—High water caused by heavy rains and melting snow brought flood threats to several sections of the state today.

Heavy snow occurred in Central New York and the southern tier, while rain fell heavily in this section. Ten inches of snow were reported near Whitehall, five inches in Syracuse and more than three in Binghamton.

Plan To Contest Jarrett Victory

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 5.—The defeat of Rep. Dennis J. Driscoll in the 20th congressional district will be contested by the Democratic state committee and county Democratic committees in that district, David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, announced today.

Driscoll was beaten by Benjamin Jarrett, Farrell Republican and former representative, in one of the most heated congressional battles in the state.

Dr. J. E. Brandenberger, a Swiss chemist, is credited with the invention of cellophane.

Longfellow received $25 for his now famous poem, "The Wreck of the Hesperus."

Secretary Eden Answers Speech By Mussolini

Warns Germany That Anglo-German Friendship Cannot Be Directed Against Third Party

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 5—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today answered recent diplomatic soundings of the fascists states by warning Germany that Anglo-German friendship could not be directed against any third party.

Speaking on foreign affairs in the house of commons, Eden said Britain welcomed Rapprochement with Italy and "has no desire to threaten Italian interests in the Mediterranean."

However, he added "freedom of communications in these waters is of vital interest to the British commonwealth of nations."

Eden's speech answered Premier Benito Mussolini's address at Milan last Sunday, in which he made a bid for Britain's friendship but warned Italy's arms would defend her interest in the Mediterranean.

Eden answered also the friendly overtures of Germany, often linked in the German press with certain definite European line-ups generally directed against Russia.

Seek Wreckage Of Missing Barge

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 5.—The coast guard cutter "Petrel" left early today to search for wreckage or possible lost bodies at the scene where the tug "Ballenas" reported it lost a barge.

The "Ballenas" reported it dropped the barge east of Westfield, N Y at 7 a. m. today, coast guard officials said.

It was unknown whether anyone was aboard the barge.

Names of parties change, but always one group believes "nice" people should rule and the other believes one man as good as another.

Nearly a foot of heavy snow, lashed by a high wind, fell over the section. Telephone poles and trees were downed. John Youngs, 74, was killed in Boonville when struck by an automobile. Truck driver Herman Freyler, 34, died when his van and trailer crashed into a tree near Canandaigua.

Mechanic On Trial In Pittsburgh On Charge Of Shooting Woman

VICTIM'S MOTHER CREATES SCENE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Accused of fatally shooting Elizabeth Wernert, 33-year-old telephone operator, as she sat on the lap of another man on the porch of her home, Frank J. Check, 44, a mechanic, was expected to take the witness stand in criminal court here today to deny charges the shooting was deliberate.

A jury of three women and nine men yesterday heard two witnesses describe the killing. One was Edward J. Baessler, only eye-witness, who said that he was the man on whose lap Miss Wernert was sitting when she was shot.

"Check said to Miss Wernert that she hadn't given him the money she owed him and he'd come to collect," Baessler testified. "Check lit a cigarette . . . he reached in his pocket. Miss Wernert got up. He shot."

Mrs. Louella Wernert, mother of the victim, berated the defendant as a "traitor." At one point she half rose in the witness chair and shouted:

"You'd have shot me, too, if I was there, wouldn't you Frank?"

Upon motion of defense counsel, the remark was stricken from the record. The witness was not cross-examined after she had testified Check had warned her daughter that if she didn't marry him, she'd "not marry anyone else."

Seek New Trial For Young Hanna

Defense Counsel Files Motion For New Trial, For Young Convicted Slayer Of Mother

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Motion for a new trial for John S. Hanna, 16-year-old high school boy found guilty Saturday of voluntary manslaughter for the fatal shooting of his mother, was on file today. William H. Coleman, attorney for the youth, said his motion was made on the ground the evidence did not warrant the conviction.

Hanna testified in his own defense that he had shot his mother in the belief she was an "intruder" prowling in the garage of the family home in North Fayette Twp.

By slightly less than 2 to 1, the borough remained in the Republican ranks, with Sandy Lake as the only other town going G. O. P. in the county.

TALL STORIES

"When I was timbering in the Northwest it snowed so hard we had to be let down with ropes to reach the tops of the trees," said Smith. "And the fog was so thick the fish lost themselves in the woods, but we soon remedied that by digging ditches in the fog and draining it back into the river."

"Well, when I was digging in the Panama Canal," retorted his friend, "it was so hot there one day, when my buddy went in swimming and dived off a 20-foot rock into the stream, he forgot to take into consideration the evaporation, and when he was half way down all the water was gone. It happened one of our sudden rains came up, though, and he landed in eight feet of water."

DEMOCRATS TO CONTROL SENATE COMPLETELY

Have 72 Members In Upper House

Lop-Sided Membership Indicates Practically No Opposition In Body

BORAH AND NORRIS BOTH RETURNED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt today was assured of the greatest majority in the history of the U. S. senate to support his New Deal legislative program in the 75th congress.

The new senate lineup will be: 74 Democrats, 18 Republicans, 2 Farmer-Laborites, 1 Progressive and 1 Independent.

Only six Republicans were elected to the senate in the 35 contests scattered through 32 states. The Republican victors included Senators William E. Borah of Idaho, Charles L. McNary of Oregon and Arthur Capper of Kansas, all of whom frequently supported the New Deal.

Has Complete Control.

The president's tremendous landslide carried so many New Dealers into the senate he can expect a two-thirds majority to support him on controversial issues, even if there are defections within his own party. He will have the help of the veteran insurgent Senator George W. Norris, who was re-elected from Nebraska as an independent, after failing to enter the Republican primaries.

Three Republicans managed to break through the Roosevelt victory to win seats in the senate. They were the youthful Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., grandson of the late senator of the same name, who defeated Gov. James M. Curley, Massachusetts New Dealer, due to a factional row in the latter's party; young Gov. Henry S. Bridges in New Hampshire and youthful Chandler Gurney in South Dakota.

On the other hand, the Republicans lost five ardent critics of the New Deal. They were Senators Daniel O. Hastings in Delaware, L. J. Dickinson in Iowa, W. Warren Barbour in New Jersey, Jesse H. Metcalf in Rhode Island and Robert D. Carey in Wyoming. All fell in the Roosevelt landslide.

Succeeds Couzens.

The Republicans lost another seat in Michigan where the Democrat, Prentiss M. Brown, was elected to the toga worn by the late Senator James Couzens. And then there was the victory of Norris, who won as an independent in Nebraska after having served three terms as a Republican.

The president, meanwhile, saw all his spokesmen re-elected. The list included Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic floor leader, from Arkansas; Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, from Mississippi; Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, leader on cotton legislation, and Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, presidential spokesman on appropriations and many fiscal matters.

One Democratic precedent probably will be broken by the landslide. The new Democratic senators will have to sit on the Republican side of the senate. Up until now, in spite of four successive landslide victories, Democratic newcomers have been jammed into their own side of the senate, although in the old overwhelming Republican senates many Republicans sat on the minority side.

Now the Democrats will have to cross the aisle. There just won't be room enough for them on the Democratic side.

Sandusky Becomes Champagne Center

(International News Service)

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 5.—Prosperity may still be around the proverbial corner, and relief officials may have their hands full and all that, but the champagne business here is popping.

The Mon Ami Champagne Co. here has shipped an entire carload—650 cases—of champagne to its representative at Greensboro, Ga., who is distributor for four states, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia.

"It's the first full carload of champagne ever shipped in the United States," said Vitor Von Baden, president of the company. "I looked it up; there have been parts of carloads shipped but never a full carload so far as the records I was able to find disclosed."

Advice can always be had for nothing, and is sometimes worth it.

Benefit Socials Taboo This Winter

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Members of Pittsburgh's largest church—Sacred Heart—will not be asked to attend benefit socials this winter.

Instead, they will contribute to a special collection designed to eliminate bazaars, card parties and similar methods of raising funds for maintenance.

The new policy, an innovation at Sacred Heart, was announced when an executive committee was named to direct the campaign. Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, pastor, said there would be no gatherings of Sacred Heart people save for social purposes.

The very newest color is "Rebellion" red, which is being featured in connection with the Spanish disorder. Also, "Coronation" red is popular in London, where coronation plans are under way.

Minor Operation On Pope Pius Is Reported Today

Minor Blood Congestion In Pope's Head Relieved In Vatican City

(International News Service)

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 5.—Pope Pius XI underwent a minor operation several days ago, it was learned today.

Details of the operation are being carefully guarded by his physicians, but it was ascertained that leeches were used behind each ear to relieve a minor blood congestion in the Pope's head.

Sources close to the pontiff emphasized that he is not in dangerous health, despite his 79 years and the deep worry he has recently suffered over events in Spain.

Pope Pius has just recovered from a protracted cold that he contracted just before he returned to the Vatican from his country villa at Castelgandolfo.

Since that time, however, he has continued to carry out his duties, and held audiences almost daily.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Guaranteed

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give lasting relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co., invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 5—Frank Cecil Hoffman, under indictment in federal court here for possession of five pints of untaxed liquor, may not be prosecuted because of his eyesight.

For Hoffman is blind in one eye, and according to his optician is losing the sight of the other. Assistant District Attorney Joseph Gibson has asked Federal Judge W. E. Baker to noll the indictment because of the condition, and Baker has indicated he would hold the case in abeyance until the condition of the defendant's "good" eye can be definitely determined.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN WHO LIE

"DEAR MR. MYERS: I am an ardent reader of your daily column, and am coming to you for help. . . .

"My boy has a weakness for lying. Every once in a while he will lie in regard to one particular thing for a length of time, and finally admit the truth."

The writer cites several instances. One in which the boy played hookey from school and she and the teacher together took a long while to force his confession. "I deprived him of using his ice skates for a week. . . ."

"Another instance was the missing of a pack of cigarets . . . he lied consistently for an hour that he did not take them . . . then admitted the truth.

"This spring I sensed that he was missing mass on Sundays . . . but every time would lie straight to my face that he went . . . kept at him till he confessed. Then I deprived him of a fishing rod for a month.

Misses Scissors.

"About a month ago I missed a valuable pair of scissors. His dad and I questioned him, but he'd cry and say we always blamed him . . . at intervals we would bring up the subject and always would impress the fact that he didn't have to be afraid, but we wanted him to feel free to come and tell us the truth. but always 'No, mother, I didn't take them.' His dad has promised him a bike, and this noon I approached the subject of the scissors, but 'NO' right in my eyes, 'I didn't take them.' . . . I told him I could read him like a book, that I knew he was lying. . . I dropped the subject and ate dinner in silence, and when he'd ask me a question I wouldn't answer . . . if you don't admit the truth and I find out you've been lying, no bike . . . when he went to school . . . to kiss me goodby, all smiles, 'Here, read this'—paper on which was written, 'I took your scissors to fix my kite and lost them. "

Now this mother did just what many other conscientious parents do. She practiced her child in deceit; she forced him to lie. He always knew that punishment awaited his being found out, and that his chances for escape or postponement of punishment were pretty good.

What should she have done? She should have held no court trials nor attempted to make the child confess.

If you suspect that your child has done some wrong but have not the evidence, nor can get it except from him, do not ask him about it. Shield him more from temptation for some time. Make him feel more loved and secure, and that he is a worthy member of the family. Do more things with him, go more places with him, help him find more opportunities to succeed.

On Court House Hill

A. H. Martin, judge of election in the third precinct of the Third ward, was the first in the city to get in his election returns at the prothonotary's office Wednesday morning. W. R. McKee, of the first precinct of Hickory, was the first with county returns, with Perry Forbes, of Scott township, a close second.

Mary Schuller has issued a writ in attachment against Michael Hermann in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money that may be due the defendant from the Baltimore Life Insurance Company in satisfaction of an alleged debt of $500.

There was a lack of politicians seeking official returns at the prothonotary's office on Wednesday morning. The election was so much one-sided that there were really no contests to be decided.

Although there were many new members of election boards on account of changes made during last few days preceding the election, there were few errors in the papers returned to the prothonotary's office and these were of a minor character. One of the common errors is to seal up return sheets intended for the public, but it was not necessary to open any of them.

Republican court house officials were shaking hands with themselves yesterday. If there had been any to elect it is likely that they would have been defeated as the straight Democratic votes would have done the business. Not even a groundhog can predict what the future holds in store.

Prothonotary John A. Edgar is sending out notices to applicants for naturalization that the next naturalization court will be held on November 23 and 24. There are 160 who will be examined for second papers. Huge classes of applicants have been the rule for some time. Where they all come from nobody seems to know, but it is evident that there have been a great many living here who have suddenly awakened to the value of citizenship papers. The coming examinations will be conducted by an examiner from Pittsburgh with one of the local judges presiding.

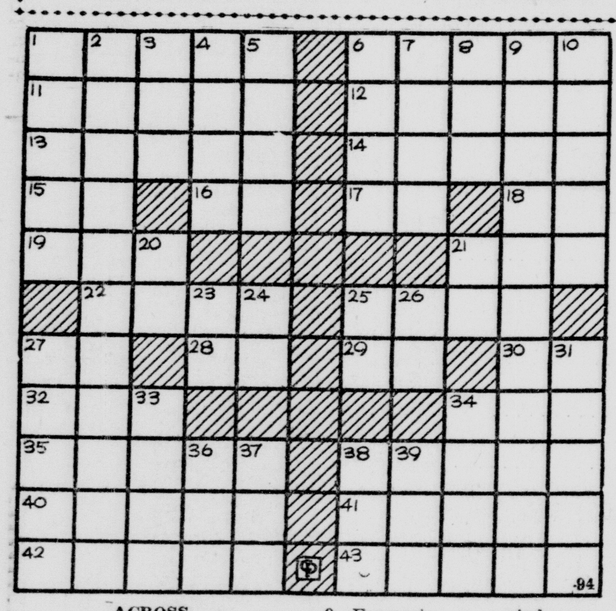

Letters of administration have been granted by the register and recorder as follows: Estate of the late William Griffin of New Castle, letters granted to Lola Griffin. Estate of the late Andrew Glenn of Hickory township, letters granted to Fred T. Glenn.

In the estate of Ida M. Sankey, who died at Wheatland, Mercer county, a certificate has been filed at the register and recorder's office showing that letters have been granted in Mercer county to Viola G. Heasley. The certificate is filed on account of interests in Lawrence county.

Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds reports that the duplicate registration books and cards given to election boards have been returned in good shape. Some of the cards were a little dirty, but Jim Farley predicted a dirty campaign.

A copy of the will of David Stewart, who died in Pittsburgh, has been filed at the register and recorder's office here. Under the will decedent's wife, Myrtilda Stewart, is left $2,000; a daughter, Mattie, $1,500; daughters Mary A. Nelson, Maggie J. McMurray and Lizzie Reynolds, $500 each. A granddaughter, Annie, daughter of William C. Stewart, is left $450. Residue of the estate is left to sons John, David, Samuel, William, Archy and Rankin Stewart.

Will Take Case At Uniontown, Pa., To Higher Court

Seek To Prevent Attorney General Margiotti From Becoming Special Prosecution

FAYETTE COURT HAS DISMISSED PROTEST

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 5.—Battling to prevent Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti from presecuting 12 persons for the alleged "third degree" murder of Frank C. Monoghan, 64, Attorney John Duggan, chief defense counsel, today will file papers in the state supreme court, he announced.

Duggan said he would take steps to bring his fight into the high court after he had learned that the Fayette county courts had dismissed the protest to Margiotti as prosecutor filed by District Attorney James A. Reilly, one of the defendants.

Necessary papers will be filed in the state court at Pittsburgh, Duggan said, in an effort to move up hearing of the appeal to December. Trial of the "third degree" defendants, all indicted by a special grand jury in September, is scheduled to begin January 4.

Fayette judges Thomas H. Hudson and H. S. Dumbauld concurred in the opinion dismissing Reilly's quo warranto proceedings. They found that "the highest interests of the commonwealth" were involved in the case, and that Margiotti, as chief law officer for the state, was justified in appointing himself to prosecute the accused.

Detroit Blonde Pays Her Bet, But May Catch Pneumonia For So Doing

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 5—Dressed in the latest thing in long woolen underwear, Mrs. Mildred Morrison, 23, blonde and pretty, walked across Belle Isle bridge here in freezing weather to pay off an election bet.

Her elapsed time was four minutes and 35 seconds, a record for long underwear dashes across the bridge.

In addition to the long white woolies, which made her a gleaming if bizarre figure, Mrs. Morrison selected a man't hat, a short leather jacket, and umbrella and a sign for her stroll.

Philipino Law Student Admits He Terrorized Manila

(International News Service)

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 5—A pint-size defiant Sakdal, Frisco Villaneuva, 25 year old former pre-law student at the Philippine Law school confessed that he alone planned the bombing outrages which terrorized this city last October 3, it was learned by International News Service today.

In an exclusive interview after he was arrested at Lingayen Pangasian by the constabulary, Villaneuva said he planned the bombing as well as a revolution which was frustrated, "to force America to give us independence."

"We Sakdals want to be free of all American domination," he said. "We have had enough of promised independence, and that's all the Tydings-McDuffie law gives us. It may be at the end of ten years America would keep her promise. But I don't think so.

"I planned the bombing and incendiarism to show America there would be trouble unless complete independence were granted immediately. I wanted to destroy Manila to make foreign industry disappear and to make the rich feel our power.

"When I failed I fled to Pangasian where with others I hatched a plot for a general revolution. But some traitor revealed our plans to the constabulary and we were captured."

Editorial Tribute Paid Southern Lion Who Stops Off Here

Carbis A. Walker, a Winston-Salem, N. C., Lion, who often drops in to attend meetings of the New Castle Lions club, won editorial comment from a Mamaroneck, N. Y., paper when he recently visited the Lions in that city.

The editorial in the Daily Times of that city read in part:

"He (Mr. Walker) is president of the Winston-Salem Lions club and prides himself on a perfect attendance at meetings of the Lions for seven years. He found himself in Mamaroneck and found no meeting of the local Lions club scheduled. His perfect attendance record was threatened but he went to some of the club's leaders and stated his predicament. It didn't take them long to bring joy to the heart of their visitor. A special meeting of the Lions was called, Lieutenant Commander Walker attended and his perfect record was saved."

The paper goes on to comment that this "tells us a lot about the character of the man and gives us a high opinion of him."

Walker has relatives in the Plaingrove district.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

A cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. You can relieve them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery that aids nature to soothe and heal the infected membranes and to relieve the irritation and inflammation as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled.

Medical authorities have for many years recognized the wonderful effects of Beechwood Creosote for treating coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations. A chemist worked out a special process of blending Creosote with other ingredients so that now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children. Thousands of doctors now use Creomulsion in their own families and practice, and druggists rank Creomulsion top because in this genuine, original product you can get a real dose of Creosote so emulsified that it goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles, especially those that start with a common cold and hang on and on. Get a bottle of Creomulsion right now from your druggist, use it all up as directed and if you fail to get satisfactory relief, he is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Get Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

Makes Sudden Plea Of Guilty

Pittsburgh Murder Trial Comes To Dramatic Climax Today

GETS 10 TO 20 YEARS IN PRISON

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—A dramatic and unexpected plea of guilty ended the "kiss in the dark" murder trial today, sent Frank J. Check toward the penitentiary, and sent his aged mother unconscious to a first-aid room.

On the stand in his own defense, Check suddenly admitted that he shot the girl who jilted him, 32-year-old Elizabeth Wernert.

At times weeping openly, Check admitted he had gone to Miss Wernert's home, found her in the arms of a rival on the dark back porch, and fired a shot.

"On my word of honor," he testified, "I shut my eyes, somebody shoved me, I was falling down, I heard a gun go off. That's all I can remember until somebody at the police station asked me what did you shoot her for?"

As he left the stand, his aged mother, Mrs. Anna Check, replaced him, testifying he was a good son and her sole support. Seemingly on the point of collapse several times, restoratives were administered.

After the mother's pitiful plea, Judge W. Heber Dithrich fixed the degree of guilt at second degree, and handed down a 10-to-20 year sentence to the penitentiary.

"It appears his weakness is women ...I do feel you went there not for the purpose of shooting her, but when you saw her there, you were enraged..." the judge said.

At the sentence the mother fainted. She was carried unconscious to a first aid room.

So far we've learned but one thing from all these claims of certain election victory put forward by political candidates: That only optimists, apparently, run for office.

Four Young Bandits Get 11 Revolvers

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Fearing a possible outbreak of gang warfare, postal inspectors today joined police in a hunt for four young bandits who held up two attendants in the Back Bay postoffice garage and fled with eleven 45 calibre pistols from a gun rack. They were thought to be members of a gang preying on drug stores.

Investigators sought to determine whether there was any connection between the holdup and the mysterious slaying of William R. Sullivan, 29, shot and thrown from an automobile in Brookline.

Penn State To Meet Pitt

Game Will Be played In Stadium At Pittsburgh, Saturday

PATRICK READY TO PLAY AGAIN

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 5.—Although Penn State's backfield has been subjected to many shifts in the past two weeks, the Nittany Lions forward wall has remained intact and has functioned with improved smoothness in every encounter.

Three sophomores have won their spurs on the Penn state line. They are Alex Barantovich, Sever Toretti and Dean Hanley—end, guard and tackle. This trio, together with juniors Dan DeMarino and Johnny Economos, tackle and guard, and a pair of seniors, Frank Smith and Captain Cherundolo, make up the seven Nittany forwards. Barring injury this line should start the Pitt, Penn and Bucknell games.

A wide open scramble for the halfback posts is still consuming the attention of Coach Bob Higgins and his assistants. For the Pitt game lineup, it is still unsettled whether Sammy Donato or Alf Lang will hold down the blocking halfback post. Lang has the advantage because of his height and kicking ability, but Donato's experience may count heavily in his favor.

Three sophomores are leading the fight for the other halfback. They are Harry Harrison, Bill Denise and Johnny Patrick. Harrison, who was the leading ground gainer against both Cornell and Syracuse, is considerably lighter than the other two. Denise started the Orange encounter, and Patrick, although out with injuries for several weeks, is now rounding into form.

Two fixtures in the Lion backfield for Pitt are Red O'Hora, quarterback, and Tommy Silvano, fullback. Both were leading cogs in the fine Penn State victory over Syracuse, Silvano accounting for nearly a hundred yards in straight line bucks.

Whistle To Blow At Bessemer, Pa., On Friday At 9

Arrangements have been made by the Bessemer Rod and Gun club with the officials of the Bessemer Limestone and Cement Company to blow the whistle on the factory at 9 o'clock Friday morning for the benefit of the rabbit hunters in the Bessemer district.

According to law no rabbits can be shot prior to 9 a. m., but once the whistle has blown there will be a lot of rapid firing going on and the "bunnies" had better run for cover.

Pitt Is Prepared To Battle Nittany Lions

BILL STAPULIS
PITT FULLBACK IN GAME AGAINST PENN STATE

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Pitt resumes relations with its most ancient rival this week, when the Nittany Lions of Penn State arrive in the Pitt Stadium to battle Pitt in the thirty-sixth game of a series that had its inception back in 1893.

Jock Sutherland's Panthers have had four hard games in a row now, and the Pitt mentor let his charges off on Monday, for the first time this year out of respect for the battle anticipated with Bob Higgin's State outfit this week.

Penn State has not had a successful season thus far. Muhlenburg and Syracuse bowed before the Lions, but Villanova, Lehigh and Cornell won. Records mean little, however, in Pitt-State games, for the Pitt game is the game as far as the Centre county school is concerned.

The Panthers came out of the Fordham game in pretty fair physical shape. Acting Captain Bill Glassford likely will be lost to the team this week, the Biffer suffering a leg injury that is expected to keep him on the bench for two weeks. His place will be taken by Walter Raskowski, capable sophomore guard from New Castle.

The game will be the homecoming game, and the attendance will be boosted by thousands of alumni returning for a week-end of social activities.

College Football Upheld By Walsh

International News Sports Editor Fails To Find Anything Wrong With Game

College Football Provides Plenty Of Thrills For Fans And Players Alike

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Originally, I only meant to improve my mind for five cents but I guess I got in pretty deep with authors like Benny Friedman, Ken Strong and others in the current periodicals and now suddenly I can see where it's all leading. Fame is coming to me at last after all these years. I'm to be known as the only guy who didn't write a story explaining what is the matter with college football.

It's probable due to a limited equipment. In fact, I'm unable to say, with any great hope of effect, what's the matter with college football, because I think there's very little.

Yes, there are scholarships given by practically every university in the country but young men do not seek these just to gratify a whim, especially young men who were unable to make arrangements about desirable parentage and, therefore, wound up as the sons of elevator starters. Yes, there are jobs gotten for football players. But the scholarship only takes you as far as the campus.

What About Money

The only thing that can keep you there is to find out pretty quickly just what they're using for money in the neighborhood.

Somebody else has to do that for football players. Why Because they haven't a chance to compete with the ordinary student who is in there strictly on the make. He, meaning the football player, couldn't hold a regular job and his scholarship at the same time and, if he could, he wouldn't have time to find it. He puts in a minimum of six hours daily in the class room. Including meetings and blackboard talks, he gives another six to football. He should and really must sleep eight hours. That leaves four for eating, studying and the odd-job situation.

Provides Thrills

The question, therefore, comes up as to how much work does a football player have to do in order to be accepted as a legitimate person, getting by among his kind as best he might?

Yes, there are the big stadium crowds and the Roman holiday spirit of the average Saturday afternoon. It's distorted beyond proper proportion and that, beyond a doubt, creates something of a spiritual deficit. But you can balance it with the fact that it does a great many people a great deal of good, one way and another, including the players. It's a thrill to them they'll never know again and it comes at an age when it's good for the ego, temporary though it may be.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight champion and Ken Overlin, of Richmond, Va., fought a 10 round slam-bang bout last night at Pittsburgh, with the former crown-holder winning the unanimous decision. The Beaver Valley boy came from behind to capture the verdict.

Officials of the Brooklyn Dodgers will name a new manager sometime today according to reports from the east. Burleigh Grimes, Zach Wheat and Joe Stripp mentioned in connection with a probate landing of the position have not been asked as yet to take over Casey Stengel's post.

James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, has been asked to post a $5,000 forfeit with the New York State Athletic commission as a guarantee he will defend his title against Max Schmeling next year. Braddock is now at Hot Springs and is billed to box an exhibition with Jack McCarthy, at New Orleans on November 16.

Fritzie Waldek, one of the best lightweights in Western Pennsylvania amateur ranks, Kid Roberts another slam-bang artist at 145 pounds and Tony Olcharek, a light heavyweight, now trained by George Bauman of Springdale, are anxious to appear in amateur union bouts here.

Marching Home, speedy four year old filly from Mrs. William Zeigler's Middlebury stable, made a show of her field in the San Souci purse to win by three lengths at Pimlico yesterday. Marching Home got away to a splendid start. Lemont was second. The time was 1:12 3-5 for the six furlong trip

Westminster To Play Edinboro

Game To Take Place Saturday On Teachers' Home Gridiron

TITANS HOPE TO ANNEX VICTORY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 5.—In an attempt to annex their second win of the season, the Westminster Titans journey to Edinboro Saturday to try a duplication of last year's 40-0 romp over the Teachers.

The Edinboro eleven found its stride against Clarion two weeks ago and rode to a rough-shod victory, 40-0, defeating a team that Thiel was able to score only three touchdowns against. On paper, Edinboro is stronger than Thiel, beaten Saturday by the Roarkmen, 13-6, but outcharged and outscrimmaged by the Lutheran eleven.

Two Titan veterans, Bailey in the backfield, and Grubb at end, out for the past two weeks with injuries, will probably return to the Westminster lineup for the game. Both are valuable men and should give the Titan offense considerable strength in the passing department.

In the Titan-Edinboro series dating back from 1930, the Westminster gridders have a decided advantage, scoring 97 points to 12 for the Teachers in a four-game layout. The Edinboro eleven will be out for vengeance this year, however, to repay Westminster for turning their game into a track-meet at New Wilmington last year.

Roark's proteges are fast developing defensive strength, as was exhibited in the Thiel game when the Titans held within the five-yard line for eight successive trys by the Lutherans for a score.

In the Titan starting lineup will probably be Laposki, Shoup, Laraway and Bailey in the backfield; Grubb and Miller at ends; Susko and Butler at tackles; Krulatz and Youkers at guards, and Holton at center.

Sylvan Heights Club House Closes

Marks Official End Of Play At City-Owned Course As Winter Nears

Manager and pro, Capt. V. Arthur Smith, of the Sylvan Heights course, stated today that the clubhouse will be closed on Saturday, marking the official end of play for the season. Players will be privileged to use the course on nice days throughout the winter, but most of the golfers have decided to hang up their clubs for the season.

Players who have clubs at the clubhouse are asked to come to the course and secure them by Saturday as the office will be closed at that time and clubs left there will be at the owners' risk.

Grimes Is New Dodger Manager

Burleigh Grimes Will Lead Brooklyn Dodgers In 1937 Baseball Season

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Appointment of Burleigh Grimes, the old spitball pitcher, as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers for next year was announced today by Club President, Stephen McKeever.

Grimes, an ace of the Brooklyn hurling staff from 1918 to 1926, succeeds Casey Stengel, who was fired soon after the close of the last season.

Shooting Match Is Called Off

The New Castle Rifle club and the Nonpareil Rifle club shooting match scheduled for tonight has been cancelled by Karl Rohrer of the Nonpareil club, it was announced by Leo W. Hill.

The match will be staged at a later date, it is understood. The New Castle club will stage a practice shoot as usual on Friday night at the Cathedral range at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced.

Tech To Meet New York U.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—With two veteran first-stringers likely to be on the bench and four sophs included in the opening lineup, Carnegie Tech's gridiron warriors leave late tonight for New York where they meet New York University in the Yankee Stadium Saturday.

Captain Nestor Henrion, and Fullback Johnny Grad are both slated to see the game sans uniforms because of injured legs.

Expect Big Crowd On Special Train

From Ticket Sale, Indications Point To About 600 Or 700 On "Football" Special

Judging from the enthusiasm and the sale of tickets to date, there will probably be about 600 to 700 persons on the "football" special over the Pennsylvania lines to Martins Ferry on Saturday.

Of this number will be the football team, coaches, managers and others, the New Castle High 80 piece band, and leaders. There is talk of running two special trains, one for the team, band and students, and one for the fans of New Castle.

Mayor Charles McGrath is planning to "close up shop" Saturday and accompany the football team to Martins Ferry as special guest of the mayor of Martins Ferry.

Union-Shenango Meet On Friday

Shenango Field To Be Scene Of Annual Battle; Starting Time, 2:15 O'Clock

EXPECT BIGGEST CROWD OF SEASON

Friday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, on the Shenango high greensward, the Blue Devils of Union Township high school will oppose the Wildcats of Shenango in what promises to be one of the most exciting grid battles of the season.

Coaches Nocera, of the East New Castle eleven, and Boyd, of the Scotland Laners, will open their bags of tricks in the hope of capturing a victory which means second place in the Class B race. The two schools regard the annual game as one of the most important engagements on the schedule. Another typical Union-Shenango game is anticipated.

In Kirkwood and Currie, Shenango boasts a pair of moleskin wearers who should make it miserable for the Blue and White machine. Union also has a trio of outstanding gridders in Guinaugh, Witowitz and Neal. When the schoolboys lineup for the kickoff at 2:15 o'clock, the biggest crowd of the season is expected to be on hand for the annual tilt.

The probable starting lineup:

Shenango.		Union.
Tratz	L.E.	McGrew
Currie	L.T.	Wharry
Kline	L.G.	Neal
Thomas	C.	Pattison
Tanner	R.G.	McClenahan
Druschel	R.T.	Harry
Lysko	R.E.	Stickle
Arnold	Q.B.	King
Grinzovich	L.H.	Witowitz
Alfreda	R.H.	Fulton
Kirkwood	F.B.	Guinaugh

Referee, Hoskins; umpire, Richards; headlinesman, Waddington; starting time, 2:15 o'clock.

Pitt Is Given Gift Of $15,000

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—George M. Bevier, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Mines in 1913, has added $15,000 to his initial gift of $10,000 to the university, officials announced.

Mr. Bevier is an internationally known oil geologist of Houston, Tex. According to the provisions of his contribution, the gift and any additional property or monies given are to be known as the George M. Bevier Fund, to be invested by the university. Mr. Bevier has in mind that the fund will eventually amount to $100,000.

The initial gift of $10,000, made last February, was designated as the start of the fund for the benefit of the School of Mines and particularly for the oil and gas departments.

Dukes Entrain For St. Louis

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5—Duquesne university's gridders were expected to arrive in St. Louis late this afternoon and a light workout tonight was on the books as their final tuneup before taking on the Washington university lads Friday under the floodlights.

After two straight losses, the determined Duquesners were eager for the fray.

No one knows what became of those good will pigeons released at the opening of the Olympic games in Berlin. If they were doves of peace, it's a cinch they didn't stay in Europe.

Rain And Snow Fails To Halt Grid Practice

Dal Mumford Reports For Duty Again, Twisted Knee And Ankle Better

Rain and soft slushy snow failed to dampen the spirits of the New Castle high "Red Hurricane" yesterday at Taggart stadium as Phil Bridenbaugh put the boys through two hours of hard workouts.

It rained and snowed aplenty, but the ray of sunshine showed up in the person of young Mister Dal Mumford, the New Castle signal caller, who suffered a twisted knee and ankle in the Warren game and who was out of the Erie game altogether.

Mumford will be back on the roster this week and while he may not start the game at Martins Ferry, he will more than like see action. With Perrett injured, "Gloomy Phil" is hard hit for veteran backfield men.

Perrett's knee is on the mend, but the popular young halfback will be out of the picture for several weeks. It is understood that when he leaves the hospital that he will have to wear a cast on his knee. He suffered a ruptured ligament.

Looks Like Battle.

It still looks like a great battle at the Ohio city this coming Saturday. The New Castle high boys are determined to make a creditable showing against the big "Purple Riders". There is no question but that New Castle will enter the game on the short end of the betting.

Meantime, the tickets for the special train are selling fast. The tickets for the game are selling rapidly. It looks like a big football special out of New Castle over the Pennsy lines at 9:45 a. m. Saturday.

Great preparations are being made at Martins Ferry to show the New Castle team, coaches, fans and students the finest kind of a reception. The Ohio folks have not forgotten the great reception tendered the "Purple Riders" here last year.

Hunting Season To Open Friday

President Of Game Commission Advocates Safety On Part Of Hunters

CANNOT HUNT BEFORE 9 A. M.

With the hunting season scheduled to open at nine a. m. Friday, November 6, Nicholas Biddle president of the Pennsylvania Game commission has issued in the Pennsylvania Game News, a warning that "Safety first must be every hunter's slogan" and adds that the time has come to stamp our careless hunting in this state.

The season will open as stated at 9 a. m. on the first day only when rabbits, ringneck pheasants, Ruffled grouse, Quail, gray, black and fox squirrel can be had.

The legal kill allowed is as follows:

Rabbits, four a day, 20 a season; Ringneck pheasants, 2 a day, 8 a season; Ruffled grouse, 2 a day, 8 a season; quail, 4 a day, 20 a season and gray, black and fox squirrel, 6 a day and 20 a season.

Advice To Hunters

When hunting together always extend the courtesy of the woods and fields to your fellow gunners and to the landowner.

When you miss a rabbit and it runs into a rail pile or a hole in a stone wall, unless you have maimed it, leave it alone. It will furnish some sport to the next fellow.

If it is necessary to take fence rails down, it is just as necessary to replace them. And the farmer that sees you do the latter will say to himself: "That hunter can come back here again".

Apples and nuts on private lands do not belong to the hunters unless they have permission to take them. A hunter's coat filled with stolen goods causes much suspicion.

Many farmers will invite you to have a warm meal if you ask permission to hunt.

Game protectors will be in the fields and woods bright and early on the first day to see that gunners do not hunt before the starting hour of 9:00 o'clock.

Play safe by removing the shells from your gun before climbing over a fence. Your own and companions' lives are worth far more than the time it takes to do this.

One lighted match, cigar and cigarette can start a fire that costs thousands of dollars in timber and game.

Shooting into live trees is a violation of the law. When practising, select a range where shooting can be done into a bank free of trees.

Traps should not be set in holes where game is likely to be caught. Traps may not be set until 9:00 o'clock on the morning of the opening day for trapping, Friday, November 6.

Every gunner should observe the law prohibiting hunting within 150 yards of occupied buildings.

Ask Hunters Not To Molest Shelters Set Up For Birds

Game Warden Frank L. Coen today urged local hunters who take the field on Friday to avoid molesting the 250 or more winter bird shelters which have been erected during the past few months in various sections of the county's woods.

The shelters were set up under Mr. Coen's supervision by representatives of the National Youth Administration here, county sportsmen and farmers.

"We don't want the hunters to break these down in stirring up game, for they'll be a big help in the winter for the birds," the game protector said. "We know they'll cooperate."

(International News Service)

ST. IGNACE, Mich., Nov. 5.—U. S. Senator-elect Prentiss M. Brown (D) of Michigan found a perfect retreat today from the crowds.

He did not have to rush off on a hunting trip or a vacation to escape the well-wishers and political hangers-on. He stayed right at home but protecting him was a red sign on the door reading "quarantine—scarlet fever".

Senaotr-elect Brown's 14-year-old son was stricken with scarlet fever a week ago Monday.

Teddy Yarosz Trims Overlin At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5.—Teddy Yarosz of Monaca today was a step nearer in his long journey back toward the middleweight throne which he once graced, by virtue of his thrilling win over Ken Overlin of Norfolk here last night, which saw him pull up from behind to win a hard-fought decision.

Tied up for the first four rounds, Yarosz suddenly found the right range, and by chancing rights to the body and jaw, he pumped frequent uppercuts to Overlin's head with a vicious right while the latter had to be content with landing an occasional left hook or his famed one-two.

No Thrill In "Roost" Or "Nest" Shooting

Hunters are asked not to shoot pheasants, quail, grouse, or rabbits when sitting on the ground or in trees. There is no thrill in "nest" or "roost" shooting, and the practice is generally frowned upon by all the true sportsmen.

Hunters are also reminded to carefully "mark down" their game after shooting so they can find it more readily. Too many birds and animals are crippled and left to die, because they are not "marked down" properly or accurately.

Wounded birds, particularly, will seek the most unusual places to avoid capture. Pheasants have been known to crawl half way up the inside of an old rotten stump or secret themselves in the thick grasses along streams. Often drowning in the attempt to outwit their human pursuers.

What has become of the neighbors boy who was so weak and delicate he couldn't mow the lawn this summer That's easy—he's now traing to make the team as a plunging fullback.

Sales Run At Record Rate For Year, Ticker Is Almost Five Minutes Behind

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—With sales running at a record rate for the year and the ticker falling five minutes behind, the stock market today bounded forward into new high ground in a continuation of yesterday's sharp upthrust on President Roosevelt's re-election.

The fast pace attracted considerable profit-taking, however, and mid-way through the first hour leaders lost part of their initial gains and some slipped below previous losings. At one time gains ran to more than two points.

Leadership was furnished by metal and mining shares, with utilities, Wednesday's chief weak spot, staging a vigorous recovery on volume.

New highs for the last year and more again were in abundance, centered principally in copper, oil and motor groups.

North American and Consolidated Edison paced utility shares, the former spurting more than two points and the latter slightly less.

Chrysler and General Motors set new peaks. The former rose 1¼ points, but later lost half of this. U. S. Steel was lower, but Youngstown and Bethlehem retained modest gains.

Rails were relatively quiet and generally steady. Sugars continued upward. Communications lagged.

Commodities extended their advance. Cotton climbed 50 cents a bale and sugar was strong. Bonds moved irregularly higher.

Rebound In Utility Shares And Feverish Trading Hits Stock Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A rebound in utility shares and feverish trading, with the high speed ticker as much as five minutes behind, dominated forenoon dealings in the stock market today.

The list started off in a continuation of yesterday's post-election rise in heavy dealings but turned irregular under a wave of profit-taking. Utilities were strong, regaining part of the ground lost yesterday, while coppers hit new highs and motors gained. Steels slipped and oils were mixed. Rails marked time.

Commodities displayed further strength. Bonds were irregularly higher with governments in further demand. The dollar was strong in foreign exchanges, particularly against the Dutch currency.

Nine-Inch Snow In Kane District

KANE, Pa., Nov. 5—Traffic began to assume some semblance of normalcy here today after a sudden nine-inch snowfall snarled hundreds of cars for about five hours.

The heavy snow started late yesterday afternoon.

Today snow plows were busy clearing streets while the temperature rose slowly to 25 degrees.

AN "UNUSUAL" SIGHT—RAIL LINE BEING BUILT

The rail line being extended under a highway bridge under construction outside Grundy

This is an "unusual" sight—a railroad line being extended. Not for at least 10 years has any railroad tried to extend their tracks but the Norfolk and Western railroad is building a 45-mile extension into Buchanan county, Virginia, tapping a vast virgin coal field. Mining officials predict that Grundy, the county seat, will become a city of 10,000 through the rail line extension. In the photo above, the rail line's construction can be seen below with a new highway bridge being constructed.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Diplomat Has Hazy Status

Spanish Ambassador In Washington Has Difficult Assignment At Present

REBELS CONTROL MOST OF NATION

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Ambassador Fernando de los Rios of Spain has about as hazy a diplomatic assignment in Washington as it is easy to imagine.

There are two Spanish governments and no one knows with any certainty which is which. Dr. de los Rios' government is "de jure", as they say at the state department. That is, it is technically legal; we recognize it. But is it "de facto?"—a term which speaks for itself. Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel government certainly is "de facto" in a large part of Spain. General Franco is its military commander, anyway, whether or not he intends to become its civil head if his side wins.

If it does win, maybe Franco will choose to hand over the nominal rulership to ex-King Alfonso or one of Alfonso's sons or to one of the Bourbon "pretenders", as Benito Mussolini has permitted King Victor Emmanuel to remain, in name, sovereign of Italy. Or maybe Franco will decide to be dictator in his own right.

AMBASSADOR'S PLIGHT

In either event Ambassador de los Rios will be left out on a limb.

He will be a diplomat with no government to represent.

Even so, he may hang on for a little while. The Russian embassy remained an embassy here long after it had no government back of it, and only a janitor in charge of the embassy itself.

But, ultimately, a government "de facto" inevitably becomes a government "de jure". It simply has to be recognized as a matter of international convenience.

That followed in Russia's case.

NOT WHOLLY CAPTURED

However, the Spanish revolution is not what diplomats call a "fait accompli" (accomplished fact) yet.

At this time of writing the Franco rebels are dropping bombs from airplanes into the official government's capital of Madrid and seem likely to capture it.

The loss of its capital does appear to be pretty bilious for its government.

Still, as Dr. de los Rios suggests, Madrid is Spain's political capital only; not its industrial or agricultural capital.

Virtually the recognized Spanish government has transferred its headquarters to Barcelona. It is much as if the United States, harassed in Washington, should see fit to move its central offices to some other important city—New York or, more appropriately, Chicago.

It would not mean that the United States was licked.

REBELS ARE CONSERVATIVES

There is a queer distinction between Spanish loyalists and rebels.

Ordinarily a rebel is a radical in insurrection against ultra-conservatism.

In Spain the ultra-conservatives, for generations in power, were overthrown by the liberal (and, in part, downright red radical) element.

So the liberals are the intrenched folk, who usually are conservative. And the conservatives, who ordinarily want things left just as they are, are in rebellion.

One has to bear this in mind or it is easy, in thinking or speaking of the Spanish struggle, to get the rival groups wrong side first.

CATALANS ARE RADICALS

Barcelona, which is the liberal government's ace in the hole, no matter what reverses it may meet with elsewhere, is the metropolis of the Catalonian region in northeastern Spain.

The people throughout the remainder of Spain are mixed in their political sympathies. Some of them are pro-government; some are pro-rebel.

But there is no doubt as to the Catalans. They are almost solidly radical; for them liberal is too mild a word.

"CHICAGO OF SPAIN"

The Catalans also are the most up-and-coming inhabitants of the Iberian peninsula; fighters of the very first class. Moreover, their corner of the peninsula is populous and prosperous. Barcelona, with nearly 1,000,000 inhabitants, often is referred to as the "Chicago of Spain".

The Catalans, however, deny that they are Spaniards.

They insist that Catalonia is a separate country and that they are a distinct breed of folk, with a language of their own.

SATISFIED NOW

Under King Alfonso and before him the Catalans were in a constant state of rebellion against the then conservative government.

The more recent liberal regime has given them a large measure of autonomy, which has satisfied them fairly well. Consequently today they are pro-government and vehemently anti-rebel.

Thus the government, falling back on Catalonia, if it must, will be sure of plenty of aid and comfort, enabling it to continue civil warfare indefinitely.

MUSSOLINI STEADFAST?

Incidentally there are rumors that Italy is not as ardently in favor of the Spanish rebels as generally is supposed.

Mussolini and Hitler have given the impression that they are warmly on the rebels' side. Hitler probably really is, and Mussolini presumably would have a natural leaning toward the Spanish faction which is trying to set up a government very similar to his own.

Nevertheless, "Il Duce" is a practical individual. What he particularly wants is the Italian acquisition of various Mediterranean outlets and strongholds now in Spain's possession. If the present government will let him have them, without creating an uproar which might involve Europe, there are observers who believe that he might waive any sentimental preference he seems to have felt for the rebels and flop over to the loyalist group.

In that event Ambassador de los Rios' prospects of holding onto his job in Washington will be greatly improved.

Democrats Take Complete Control Of Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 5.—Pennsylvanians, still amazed by Tuesday's election upheaval, awakened today to a full realization of the Roosevelt victory in their native state—a victory that carried into office with the president a majority of state Democratic candidates.

Reading of President Roosevelt's unprecedented majority—more than 643,000 with the last precincts unreported—they were amazed, but it was the attendant sweep for virtually every Democratic office seeker on the state ticket that opened the eyes of the average Keystone state voter. It amounted to this:

The Democratic majority in Pennsylvania's congressional delegation was increased from 23 to at least 27 of the 34 seats.

Obtaining their objective of the past two years, Democrats won control of the long-Republican dominated state senate and boosted their majority of the state house to about three to one.

Both Democratic candidates won in the fiscal office fights, giving Gov. George H. Earle's administration control of the offices of state treasurer and auditor general, now Republican.

It was the first time in 80 years that Pennsylvania had given its 36 electoral votes to a Democratic presidential candidate.

Both F. Clair Ross, Democratic candidate for state treasurer and Warren R. Roberts, Bethlehem, his running mate for auditor general won by majorities that approximated two-thirds of that apparent for the president. Ross won over Frank Pinola, Kingston for state treasurer by more than 488,000, while Roberts, for years a member of the state senate, defeated E. Arthur Sweeny, Greensburg publisher by more than 461,000.

SYMPATHY

George—What are you crying about, my dear?

Susie—The horrid old mice got into the pantry and ate up a beautiful custard pie I had baked.

George—Come now, don't worry so much about a few mice.

The bones of Miles Standish were transferred from their wooden coffin to a metal one several years ago and reburied in the cemetery at Duxbury, Mass.

BEAUTY EDITORS
Find National Trend To Soap and Water For ATTRACTIVE COMPLEXIONS
America is going "soap and water" again, according to beauty editors. Women have discovered that nothing takes the place of soap cleansing in promoting natural skin loveliness.
Cuticura Soap is a medicated, true complexion soap. Its fine, creamy lather—so gentle and soothing—helps clear the pores of every particle of dirt and irritating "foreign matter."
Cleanse the face twice a day with Cuticura Soap. Special emollient and cleansing properties tone and invigorate the skin—help protect against irritations. For relieving externally caused pimples, rashes and irritation of eczema, supplement with Cuticura Ointment. Together they make a complete, inexpensive, every day beauty treatment. FREE samples—write "Cuticura" Dept. 36, Malden, Mass.

AROUND CITY HALL

City of New Castle has purchased on the rental plan, an air compressor for the department of streets at a price of $2,080, or $217.00, monthly. The city heretofore has borrowed an air compressor from the New Castle Water company. The purchase price includes the cost of a tamp and hose.

It is probable that today Councilman Joseph D. Alexander will recommend the award of a contract for approximately $300.00 worth of electric light bulbs.

Quite a few members of the city department of police worked overtime election day and night. Some came on duty early and others worked extra hours. However, insofar as police work was concerned, there was no trouble.

Two young chaps from Youngstown who essayed a trip eastward and were caught here by police after coming here in a box car kept the police amused yesterday morning with a mouth-organ and songs. The chaps were returned to their parents later in the day.

Repairs made recently to the city building roof by the WPA probably will prevent dripping water from snow on pedestrians who walk on the sidewalk in East Washington and East streets.

Rubber Plant Is Too Odoriferous

(International News Service)

FINDLAY, O., Nov. 5—Findlay city fathers are confronted with a smelly problem.

The problem and the smell, all come from a rubber factory in Southwest Findlay, which, at certain hours of the day is responsible for smoke which is thoroughly unpleasant according to residents living near the plant.

The aroused citizens want council to do something about it, but the council has visions of the company leaving the city. The problem is being looked into, and council members have been asked to spend some time near the plant, so that they can realize its olefactory offense.

Nitroglycerin Has Ohio Copper Stumped

(International News Service)

POMEROY, O., Nov. 5—When Walter Wolfe, assistant chief of police here, attempted to arrest the driver of a nitroglycerin truck parked on Main street, he found a real problem on his hands.

Wolfe did not want to leave the truck on the street while he took his prisoner to jail, and he was not at all enthusiastic at the driver's suggestion that he drive it to the jail himself. Finally the officer ordered the driver to leave town immediately and return for a hearing on a charge of violating the village explosives ordinance at a later day.

There was 20 quarts of nitro in the truck, enough to leave nothing but a hole in the ground where Pomeroy belongs if it should have been touched off.
